Commissioners Hold Hearing On Annexation

A hearing on the proposed annexation of the Isaac-Moats additions to the city of Circleville was held Wednesday night in the court room of the Pickaway County court house.

County Commissioners Dick Tootle, Charles Morris and Wayne Hines heard affirmative and negative reactions from the 31 persons present at the hearing.

A petition asking for annexation had been presented to the commissioners. Of the 163 persons involved, 111 had signed the petition requesting annexation. A 51 per cent majority was all that was required.

The commissioners now have 90 days to either accept or reject the proposal. If accepted, it will then be turned over to Circleville City Council for study.

PARTIES in favor of the annexation stressed good water and sewage as being the main concern in asking to be taken into the city. Claims of septic tanks polluting the water were of prime concern.

Several residents stated they have been hauling drinking water into their homes for years. Repulsive odors in the area was another source of contention.

Of prime concern of those opposed to the annexation was the fact they had no guarantee from the city of Circleville as to when the improvements would be made once they were annexed.

Several residents stated they had good water and were not interested in city water. Several persons stated they were living on fixed incomes and could not afford the expense that would be involved in the improvements.

The commissioners advised the group they would take everything into consideration and render a decision as soon as possible.

Job Benefit Plan Given To Ohio Solons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A double-barrelled package of relief for the unemployed and workers injured on the job was introduced in the Senate Wednesday by the Gilligan administration.

An unemployment compensation bill would increase benefits from $66 to $99 per week, and lengthen from 20 to 26 weeks the maximum time it could be collected.

A similar bill was introduced in the Ohio House Monday night. The bill would extend benefits an additional 13 weeks when unemployment in the state reaches four per cent.

The other half of the package, a workmen's compensation bill, would expand services to those injured on the job.

It would boost maximum benefits from $63 to $98 a week and provide a widow with two children under 16 up to $27,500 plus a funeral allowance of $750.

The unemployment compensation measure would also provide coverage for employees of non-profit organizations and small businesses, in addition to permitting working students to receive benefits under certain conditions.

The Senate, for the second day in a row, bogged down in party caucuses over floor rules it plans to adopt. Action was postponed until today.

Sen. Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua said the delay centers on technical details and is not because of a Senate plan to amend a rule to permit open sessions at all times.

"That," Gray said, "has already been decided."

The House, after an hour of debate, approved 92-1 a bill requiring human waste to be transported in tank trucks. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The House sidestepped a perennial battle between the glass and homebuilding industry, voting 53-37 to send back to the Judiciary Committee a bill requiring safety glass in newly-constructed homes.

Wilmington Group Gets Fair Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A delegation of Wilmington, Ohio, people got a "very fair" hearing from Pentagon officials Wednesday but no commitment to change plans for closing Clinton County Air Force Base.

The group met with Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird and one of his assistants to request a three-year stay on plans to close the base in order to allow time to convert it to another use.

Rep. Walter E. Powell, R-Ohio, who accompanied the delegation, said it was too early for military officials to make a final decision on the request.

The Defense Department has announced plans to close the Air Force Reserve base on June 30.

The delegation suggested that the facility might be used for a regional jetport, an airport for charter flights or an air cargo handling center.

They told Pentagon officials that the county of 31,000 people could ill afford a hard economic jolt that would be brought about by the base closure. The group pointed out the rural county already has been hard hit by the blight and hog cholera.

Some 50 military personnel and 550 civilians are employed at the Clinton County base, which also is used by the Ohio Air National Guard for training.

Included in the delegation were Dale Minton, mayor of Wilmington; State Sen. Max Dennis; and Thomas Hunter, editor of the Wilmington News Journal.

TU144 MAY GO COMMERCIAL THIS FALL — The Soviet TU144 supersonic jetliner (above) may become the first Supersonic Transport Aircraft (SST) to fly commercial passengers faster than sound, according to Western aviation sources. It is expected to be put into service on the Moscow-Khabarovsk run in October or November. The delta-wing plane can fly 1,550 miles an hour and carry 120 to 150 passengers up to 4,000 miles.

Israelis Reject Border Proposal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir has rejected Secretary of State William P. Rogers' proposal for international guarantees instead of the territorial expansion Israel demands to secure her borders.

"We cannot trust Rogers' offer, even if it is proposed in good faith," Mrs. Meir told a meeting of her Labor party's Central Committee Wednesday night.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said he did not doubt the U.S. government "sincerely wants to assure Israel's security."

But he said he could not accept Rogers' belief that "geography is unimportant."

Rogers, in a Washington news conference Tuesday, said the impasse in negotiations under U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring results from Egypt's insistence on Israeli withdrawal from all territory captured in 1967 and Israel's determination to hold positions it considers vital to its security.

Rogers suggested that Israel's borders be guaranteed by a U.N. force stationed at strategic points.

"Why should we be the only country in the world that is a protectorate in a framework peopled by Russians, Americans, Yugoslavs and Indians?" Mrs. Meir asked.

She also said there must be "a deterrent border so that no Sadat can in five or 10 years try again." Anwar Sadat is president of Egypt.

Dayan warned Egypt against renewing the war along the Suez Canal, declaring that Israel's military strength is greater than at any time in the past four years. He attributed this to U.S. arms deliveries since the cease-fire began in August 1970.

Egypt agreed to extensions of the cease-fire until the last expiration date, March 7, when Sadat refused to renew it. Both sides along the canal have put their forces on alert, but there have been no shooting incidents so far.

Information Minister Israel Galili told the Labor party meeting that Israel must be prepared for a "very bitter argument" with the United States.

The U.S. position reportedly worried King Hussein of Jordan because of what he considers the overriding concern of the Big Four nations to get an agreement between Egypt and Israel. Rogers did not mention Jordan.

Dayan said he believed Israel could solve the problem of the Palestine refugees not by repatriating or resettling them, but by improving their health, education and housing and "raising them out of the status of refugees."

Davis Trial Off Again

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Attorneys for black militant Angela Davis say they're going to appellate courts to seek her release on bail now that the judge in her murder case has disqualified himself.

Miss Davis' codefendant, 31-year-old black convict Russell Magee, surprised even his own attorneys Wednesday when he presented an affidavit at a pre-trial hearing seeking to disqualify Superior Court Judge John P. McMurray "for cause."

After almost two hours of conferences in chambers with attorneys for all parties, McMurray returned to the bench and declared: "I'm going to allow Mr. Magee's affidavit for cause. It disqualifies me to act further in this case."

Miss Davis, 27-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor and an avowed Communist, and Magee are charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in the Aug. 7 shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in which a judge, two convicts and an accomplice were killed.

McMurray's decision postponed the case indefinitely and returns to the California Judicial Council the task of finding a judge.

After McMurray's announcement, Howard Moore Jr., chief counsel for Miss Davis, asked him to consider her petition for bail, but the judge said, "I will refuse to act any further in this matter."

Magee's handwritten petition seeking disqualification of McMurray gave no actual "cause" and the judge allowed it without explanation.

Find Ohio Airman Dead In His Bunk

Heavy Losses Are Reported In Retreat

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy attacks drove South Vietnamese troops in Laos back toward their own border today with soaring losses. At least 110 Saigon troops were reported killed Thursday and 205 wounded.

The South Vietnamese abandoned another base in Laos, Landing Zone-Brown, the sixth given up since the campaign began Feb. 8. Saigon also pulled two battalions and a regimental command post back to South Vietnam. North Vietnamese gunners continued to pound the troops still in Laos with mortars and artillery.

"We are still in Laos but concentrated near the Vietnamese border now," said Lt. Col. Do Viet, a military spokesman in Saigon. "We are moving out to let the U.S. bombers attack North Vietnamese troops massing in the area."

Another spokesman, Lt. Col. Tran Van An, insisted that all was going according to Saigon's plans.

"We now have a new plan of operation," he said. "We are operating in another area and another direction. That's what we meant when we said tactical movements are being conducted."

"The South Vietnamese troops have accomplished almost all of their objectives in the operation," he added.

Hard fighting raged between Fire Base Lolo, abandoned Tuesday, and Landing Zone Brown. An said a battalion had remained in the vicinity of Lolo to cover the withdrawing troops, and field reports said it was overrun early today.

About 700 soldiers from the 1st Infantry Division's battered 1st regiment were flown out of Landing Zone Brown, 14 miles west of the border. The massive airlift by 60 U.S. helicopters took most of the morning.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from Ham Nghi that some of the weary soldiers were hanging on the skids of the choppers as they landed.

The 1st Regiment, which had withdrawn to Brown after abandoning Fire Base Lolo five miles to the west on Tuesday, was the second major South Vietnamese unit reported to have pulled out of Laos since the campaign began Feb. 8. The 1st Ranger Group's two battalions were withdrawn after suffering heavy losses in fighting north of Highway 9 last month.

Calley Deliberations Resume; Slight Illness Of Juror Ends

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The jury in the trial of Lt. William Calley Jr., deliberated for the second day today, arriving on schedule despite one juror's middle-of-the-night illness.

The six-man jury, which is weighing charges that Calley killed 102 Vietnamese civilians in My Lai, signed in at 3:05 a.m. On the initial day of their talks Wednesday, they sat for five hours, but did not come back for a night session.

Maj. Harvey G. Brown, 33, had retired for the night when he became ill. A bailiff, S. Sgt. Jefferson Huggins, took him to Martin Army Hospital for examination.

After 90 minutes, the major was returned to the quarters he shares with the rest of the six-man panel while they are deciding whether Calley should be convicted of murder in the death of 102 civilians in My Lai.

Under military law, the deliberations could continue with five men but Judge Reid Kennedy said he would delay resumption if Brown's illness recurred.

The jurors are working in a tightly guarded room which is newly equipped with blackboards, possibly to help chart Charlie Company's onslaught on the village three years ago.

On a table at one end of the narrow chamber are some 100 exhibits collected through four months of testimony.

Meanwhile in his bachelor apartment, on the post and decorated with peace signs, Calley welcomed a steady stream of Army friends and newsmen he invited to help pass the time waiting for the jury's decision.

The 27-year-old lieutenant provided beer, soft drinks and conversation that rarely touched on My Lai. A secretary, hired to handle the hundreds of letters he receives, acted as a hostess.

Kennedy, on call for any questions from the jury, played bridge in his chambers. Even the prosecutor Capt. Aubrey Daniel, his work finished after spending a year preparing the case, was relaxed and jovial for the first time since the trial started Nov. 12.

In their first hour of talks, the jurors sent out a call for a blackboard. In the afternoon, they asked for another.

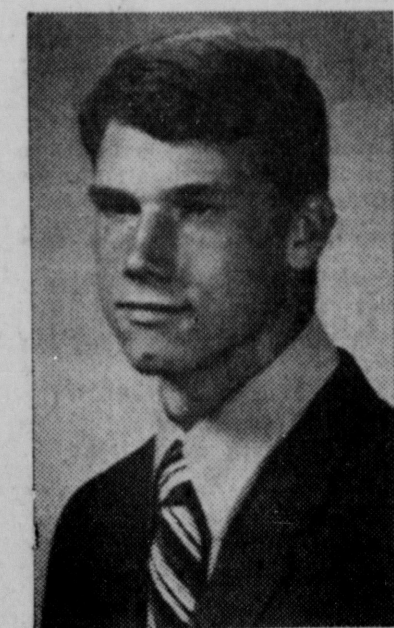

The discussions apparently were heated.

Nixon Tries To Promote More 'Human' Image

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is making a determined effort to bridge the gap between his rather stiff public image and the "real Nixon" whose private life always has been exceedingly private.

A forthcoming wedding in the family—and a not-too-distant election—may have something to do with it.

Perhaps by coincidence, Nixon's attempt to show himself in a more informal light has become increasingly evident with each drop of his popularity ratings in public opinion polls currently at their lowest point.

In fact, the Nixon move toward improving what his aides consistently describe as "communication" with the voting public began soon after the November elections, labeled a GOP victory by the President.

Nevertheless, Nixon and other top-ranked party members began a reappraisal of their position. One result has been an almost kaleidoscopic series of

White House initiatives aimed at transforming a very private man, Nixon, into a more pleasurable public man.

The next step will be Monday night when the chief executive subjects himself to an hour-long live interview with television newsmen Howard K. Smith of the American Broadcasting Co.

In fact, the Nixon move toward improving what his aides consistently describe as "communication" with the voting public began soon after the November elections, labeled a GOP victory by the President.

Nevertheless, Nixon and other top-ranked party members began a reappraisal of their position. One result has been an almost-kaleidoscopic series of

White House initiatives aimed at transforming a very private man, Nixon, into a more pleasurable public man.

The next step will be Monday night when the chief executive subjects himself to an hour-long live interview with television newsman Howard K. Smith of the American Broadcasting Co.

The news conference lapse was rectified on New Year's Eve when Nixon invited a few White House reporters, photographers and broadcast technicians—the only ones around on a snowy night—to his hideaway offices for an hour of cocktails and conversation.

Having promised through Ziegler to try new ways of communication, Nixon proceeded: A January 4 live "conversation" with four TV-radio journalists, a non-televised Oval Of-

President Asks Social Security Tax Boost Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's call for an immediate payroll-tax hike to finance higher Social Security benefits has been received in Capitol Hill with puzzlement and hints of resistance.

Nixon approved Wednesday a hastily enacted 10-per-cent increase in Social Security benefits for the 26 million beneficiaries. But he urged Congress to immediately increase the wage base on which the Social Security payroll tax is levied from $7,800 to $9,000.

The bill he signed contains such an increase, but not set until next Jan. 1. The raise in benefits is retroactive, however, to last Jan. 1.

The increase, whenever effective, means a maximum annual tax raise of $62.40 each on an employee and his employer.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined comment on chances of hastening the effective date of the tax hike.

But he said a tax increase this year would more than cancel stimulation the Social Security benefit boost was calculated to provide for a still sluggish economy.

The benefit raise is expected to pump an extra $3.6 billion to recipients, most of whom would be expected to spend the new money quickly.

Sources on the committee that shaped the legislation said all advance indications were that the administration, to feed the economy, would happily accept a benefit increase this year and a tax increase next—even though its original recommendation was for both in a single year.

However, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the committee, said he is sure Nixon's recommendation will get full consideration.

Byrnes said further changes in Social Security provisions are being considered in the over-all welfare-Social Security-medicare measure still before Ways and Means.

Mills agreed that these changes, including higher payments for widows and a relaxation in the limit on earnings retirees could receive without benefit loss, would cost more and might require financing changes.

So far, however, the committee has been working in terms of increasing the tax base and rate only in future years to take care of such contingencies.

Corporations Face Suit On Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus woman has brought a $7 million suit against seven corporations operating in Montana, charging they are polluting the air and have caused her physical damage resulting in permanent disability.

The suit was filed in Federal District Court at Columbus Wednesday by Dottie Schwan. Named as defendants are the Humble Oil and Refining Co., Montana Sulphur and Chemical Co., Continental Oil Co., the Montana Power Co., Great Western Sugar Co., and Jet Oil Co. all of Billings, Mont., and Farmers Union Central of Laurel, Mont.

Mrs. Schwan, now a resident of Columbus, moved to Billings in April, 1969. She alleges that during the time she lived there the cited corporations "willfully and wantonly and without due regard for the safety and health of the plaintiff emitted and discharged pollutants, deleterious substances, poisonous chemicals and wastes into the air enveloping plaintiff's place of residence."

She has charged that as a result of breathing the alleged pollution, she suffered infection of the bloodstream, permanent internal injuries to vital organs, skin infection, body disfigurement and general loss of health.

The seven corporations are charged with negligently failing to warn the plaintiff of the danger and failing to protect her from harm.

Mrs. Schwan has asked damages for medical care and hospitalization, loss of employment, inability to continue in any gainful activity, and anticipated future medical costs.

Ashville Man Cited In One-Car Mishap

A one-car non-injury accident 9:48 p.m. Wednesday on Route 188 just west of Dunkel Road brought a reckless operation citation to a 32-year-old Ashville man.

According to the report of Deputy Sheriff Bill Dountz, William Ray Burris was westbound on Route 188 when his station wagon went off the road, struck a fence and rolled over twice before coming to rest in a field.

Driver Fined After Hit-Skip

Rudy LaBeau, Mt. Sterling, was arrested by Circleville Police about 20 minutes after a hit-skip accident on Town St. was reported 2:50 a.m. today.

LaBeau allegedly hit two parked cars. Appearing in Circleville Municipal Court today, he pleaded guilty to reckless operation and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended on the condition he pay for damage to the other vehicles involved. His driving rights were suspended for six months.

Forfeiting bonds in court Wednesday were: Larry Wayne Mogan, 24, 141 E. Mill St., and William A. Miller, 44, 109 Fairview Ave., $19 for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone; Danny R. Easter, 20, Williamsport, $19 for making unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle.

Water Quality Substandard

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The quality of drinking water in some southern West Virginia counties is below federal and state standards, a group of Marshall University faculty members and students charged Wednesday.

Dr. Michael L. Bottino, a geology professor, said the group study started with an inquiry into the effects of coal mining in water supplies.

"We got interested in studying the municipal waters right after that," Dr. Bottino said. "When we went into the towns near where we were conducting the research, the drinking water in some of those communities was terrible."

Biology instructor Dr. Ronald Gain, one of the group's leaders, said "perhaps 40 per cent of the supplies of municipal water we tested contained pollution above limits set by federal and state governments."

Dr. Ronald Scrudato of the geology department said "a high percentage of the water we tested contained chemical and bacterial pollutants, the latter being caused by domestic sewage."

FDA Admits Nitrate Data Misstated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration admits it misstated in formal testimony the results of a 1969 study on the misuse of a controversial meat and fish additive.

FDA officials also said Wednesday the government makes no attempt to seize smoked fish until the product contains 30 per cent more of the additive, nitrite, than is permitted by safety regulations.

Commissioner Charles C. Edwards, appearing before the House operations subcommittee on intergovernmental relations, said a 1969 study of six plants making smoked salmon found only one sample with nitrite in excess of the government's 200 parts per million limit.

Subcommittee staff members said, however, papers from FDA files showed the 1969 study found three of the six plants producing fish in violation of the nitrite standard.

The FDA's chief counsel, William E. Goodrich, said the figures were correct but were delegated from the formal testimony "to shorten it."

Large doses of nitrite can be fatal, especially to children, the infirm and anemic persons, FDA officials testified. Some scientists contend lesser but still sizable doses of nitrite over long periods may cause cancer.

Nitrite is a preservative that imparts the characteristic red color to such products as corned beef, luncheon meats, sausage, and smoked fish. It is said to prevent a type of food poisoning known as botulism.

Voting Age Bill Reaches House Floor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in all elections to 18 moved another step toward enactment today when it reached the House floor.

Several states were poised to start the ratification process, awaiting only word of the House passage. Thirty-eight states must ratify the proposal before it becomes the 24th Amendment.

Congress has acted with rare speed on the amendment in hopes of making it possible for the 11 million Americans between the ages of 18 and 21 to vote in all 1972 elections.

Under a regular law enacted last year the voting age was lowered to 18, but the Supreme Court held the law invalid except for federal elections.

Without a constitutional amendment, most states would have to have separate voter registration lists and balloting procedures for those voters over and under 21.

The cost to states of maintaining a dual election system has been estimated at more than $10 million and could also result in delays and confusion in vote counting.

George R. Clifton of Route 5 notified the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department of the theft of two boats.

He said the boats, valued at $200, had been taken from A. W. Marion State Park sometime during the last five months.

Brooks - Yates Plans Ceremonies

By MICHELE HULSE
Herald Staff Writer

Pickaway County's school for mentally retarded and handicapped children, Brooks-Yates, will celebrate its tenth anniversary Sunday in a special observance at the school.

Between 3 and 5 p.m., the different classes will present programs for visitors and the honored guests. These special visitors are those persons who have been involved with the school since its formation.

Mrs. Elsie Brooks and Mrs. Mary May Yates, the two women whose names were given to the school, have been invited to see how much the school has grown in the years since they worked so closely with the retarded program.

Mrs. Brooks taught classes at the school in its early years and was one of the people who worked to make the program possible. Mrs. Yates served as executive secretary of the Child Welfare Board which then supervised the school's operation.

THE Pickaway Council for Exceptional Children was the first governing body for the school working under the welfare system. On its executive committee were: Rev. Floyd Adams Jr., Msgr. George Mason, Lawrence McKenzie, Ronald Easter, Mrs. Richard Spire and Mrs. Charles Tomlinson.

Other strong benefactors include Robert Wellington, Mrs. Mere Huffer, former County Superintendent George McDowell, Virgil Waldon, Miss Florence Bowers, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Willard Benson. These were members of the first Board of Trustees of the school.

A form of the school was begun in 1960-61 and carried partway through the following term. On Mar. 22, 1961, the school was notified of state support and officially opened as a school for educable mentally retarded youngsters in Pickaway County.

Now under the jurisdiction of The State Department of Hygiene and Correction, the school serves 31 youngsters from six years of age to 21.

This is double the 15 original students in the program. Some of these have stayed on, completing the school and going on into the new workshop.

With an enrollment of 17, this department attempts to train the students for useful jobs by subcontracting work and working on various crafts and projects as they are able. Each receives a small salary for his time. The money for this is received from the sales of merchandise they produce, reclamation of copper wiring and metals and their contract work.

FROM its start in two rooms donated in the St. Joseph's Parochial school, to the basement of the Nazarene Church to the First EUB (now Good Shepherd United Methodist Church) it has gone to quarters of its own.

In 1967 the school obtained a lease on the old Wayne Twp. building from the Circleville School system. On this site Brooks-Yates has four classrooms and the workshop in operation from 9 a.m. to 2:15 daily.

Here the students learn to associate with others, gain physical coordination and obtain a general knowledge about everyday affairs which are necessary for them to have if they wish to take part in regular community life.

All past teachers of the school will also be honored including Mrs. Leora Sayre. Mrs. Sayre works with the senior class at Brooks-Yates. She has been employed by the school since 1962.

Mrs. Sayre demonstrates the dedication required to teach these youngsters in different techniques what cannot be gotten across to them academically. They learn by steady repetition, how to care for themselves, what types of food are necessary and how to prepare them, how to make emergency phone calls, coordination of their movements, and training in academic skills within the child's grasp.

Some of these skills will help place them in a vocation after completing the program. A few of these students have progressed to steady jobs, but most will remain in the school under the workshop.

Manpower Plan OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee, despite opposition from the Nixon administration, has approved a $1.75 billion service jobs bill that could make available immediately about 150,000 jobs for state, city and local government units.

All 10 Democrats on the panel and five of its seven Republican members voted Wednesday to send the bill to the Senate for action.

The measure had the backing of many mayors and governors but Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson said the Nixon administration would prefer to handle the program through its revenue sharing proposal by tying public service jobs to overall manpower reform.

The committee's reaction to the administration bill indicated there may be a replay of last year's impasse that led to a Nixon veto of a public service proposal.

The committee approved bill would provide jobs in education, health, recreation, conservation, law enforcement and transportation. State and local Jack Mader of the Mader Funeral Home has returned from Washington D. C. where he attended the Professional Conference sponsored by the National Funeral Directors Assn. March 11 and 12.

Messages were delivered at the conference by Robert A. Walczak, administrative assistant in the national association's Milwaukee headquarters office and Rabbi Earl A. Grollman of Belmont, Mass., a pastoral counselor. He urged funeral directors to assist in providing information and advice to parents concerning death and children, and listed his recommendations for guidance.

"We've recruited some good linemen this year to go along with him," Hayes said. "I've got to get good boys. I'm not the kind of coach that can win with just anyone."

Henson, is the oldest of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ray Henson, Route 1, Ashville. The entire family has always been avid football and Ohio State fans.

A tailback for Coach Dick Kidwells Vikings who were co-champs of the Metropolitan League this past year, Henson gained a total of 1298 yards rushing and carried the ball into the end zone 17 times.

FDA Admits Nitrate Data Misstated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration admits it misstated in formal testimony the results of a 1969 study on the misuse of a controversial meat and fish additive.

FDA officials also said Wednesday the government makes no attempt to seize smoked fish until the product contains 30 per cent more of the additive, nitrite, than is permitted by safety regulations.

Commissioner Charles C. Edwards, appearing before the House operations subcommittee on intergovernmental relations, said a 1969 study of six plants making smoked salmon found only one sample with nitrite in excess of the government's 200 parts per million limit.

Subcommittee staff members said, however, papers from FDA files showed the 1969 study found three of the six plants producing fish in violation of the nitrite standard.

The FDA's chief counsel, William E. Goodrich, said the figures were correct but were delegated from the formal testimony "to shorten it."

Large doses of nitrite can be fatal, especially to children, the infirm and anemic persons, FDA officials testified. Some scientists contend lesser but still sizable doses of nitrite over long periods may cause cancer.

Nitrite is a preservative that imparts the characteristic red color to such products as corned beef, luncheon meats, sausage, and smoked fish. It is said to prevent a type of food poisoning known as botulism.

Voting Age Bill Reaches House Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in all elections to 18 moved another step toward enactment today when it reached the House floor.

Several states were poised to start the ratification process, awaiting only word of the House passage. Thirty-eight states must ratify the proposal before it becomes the 24th Amendment.

Congress has acted with rare speed on the amendment in hopes of making it possible for the 11 million Americans between the ages of 18 and 21 to vote in all 1972 elections.

Under a regular law enacted last year the voting age was lowered to 18, but the Supreme Court held the law invalid except for federal elections.

Without a constitutional amendment, most states would have to have separate voter registration lists and balloting procedures for those voters over and under 21.

The cost to states of maintaining a dual election system has been estimated at more than $10 million and could also result in delays and confusion in vote counting.

Boats Stolen

George R. Clifton of Route 5 notified the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department of the theft of two boats.

He said the boats, valued at $200, had been taken from A. W. Marion State Park sometime during the last five months.

Brooks - Yates Plans Ceremonies

By MICHELE HULSE
Herald Staff Writer

Pickaway County's school for mentally retarded and handicapped children, Brooks-Yates, will celebrate its tenth anniversary Sunday in a special observance at the school.

Between 3 and 5 p.m., the different classes will present programs for visitors and the honored guests. These special visitors are those persons who have been involved with the school since its formation.

Mrs. Elsie Brooks and Mrs. Mary May Yates, the two women whose names were given to the school, have been invited to see how much the school has grown in the years since they worked so closely with the retarded program.

Mrs. Brooks taught classes at the school in its early years and was one of the people who worked to make the program possible. Mrs. Yates served as executive secretary of the Child Welfare Board which then supervised the school's operation.

THE Pickaway Council for Exceptional Children was the first governing body for the school working under the welfare system. On its executive committee were: Rev. Floyd Adams Jr., Msgr. George Mason, Lawrence McKenzie, Ronald Easter, Mrs. Richard Spires and Mrs. Charles Tomlinson.

Other strong benefactors include Robert Wellington, Mrs. Mere Huffer, former County Superintendent George McDowell, Virgil Waldon, Miss Florence Bowers, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Willard Benson. These were members of the first Board of Trustees of the school.

A form of the school was begun in 1960-61 and carried partway through the following term. On Mar. 22, 1961, the school was notified of state support and officially opened as a school for educable mentally retarded youngsters in Pickaway County.

Now under the jurisdiction of The State Department of Hygiene and Correction, the school serves 31 youngsters from six years of age to 21.

This is double the 15 original students in the program. Some of these have stayed on, completing the school and going on into the new workshop.

With an enrollment of 17, this department attempts to train the students for useful jobs by subcontracting work and working on various crafts and projects as they are able. Each receives a small salary for his time. The money for this is received from the sales of merchandise they produce, reclamation of copper wiring and metals and their contract work.

FROM its start in two rooms donated in the St. Joseph's Parochial school, to the basement of the Nazarene Church to the First EUB (now Good Shepherd United Methodist Church) it has gone to quarters of its own.

In 1967 the school obtained a lease on the old Wayne Twp. building from the Circleville School system. On this site Brooks-Yates has four classrooms and the workshop in operation from 9 a.m. to 2:15 daily.

Here the students learn to associate with others, gain physical coordination and obtain a general knowledge about everyday affairs which are necessary for them to have if they wish to take part in regular community life.

All past teachers of the school will also be honored including Mrs. Leora Sayre. Mrs. Sayre works with the senior class at Brooks-Yates. She has been employed by the school since 1962.

Mrs. Sayre demonstrates the dedication required to teach these youngsters in different techniques what cannot be gotten across to them academically. They learn by steady repetition, how to care for themselves, what types of food are necessary and how to prepare them, how to make emergency phone calls, coordination of their movements, and training in academic skills within the child's grasp.

Some of these skills will help place them in a vocation after completing the program. A few of these students have progressed to steady jobs, but most will remain in the school under the workshop.

CREATING — These three young girls in the junior class at Brooks-Yates begin painting a farm scene as part of a class project. As each object in the picture is completed, the students will discuss its place in the rural life.

Manpower Plan OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee, despite opposition from the Nixon administration, has approved a $1.75 billion service jobs bill that could make available immediately about 150,000 jobs for state, city and local government units.

All 10 Democrats on the panel and five of its seven Republican members voted Wednesday to send the bill to the Senate for action.

The measure had the backing of many mayors and governors but Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson said the Nixon administration would prefer to handle the program through its revenue sharing proposal by tying public service jobs to overall manpower reform.

The committee's reaction to the administration bill indicated there may be a replay of last year's impasse that led to a Nixon veto of a public service proposal.

The committee approved bill would provide jobs in education, health, recreation, conservation, law enforcement and transportation. State and local government units would have to put up 10 per cent in matching funds.

Drug Rehabilitation Center To Open In Cincy April 1

CINCINNATI (AP) — A rehabilitation center for drug addicts and drug users will open here April 1 thanks to area government officials and the staff of a half-way house for ex-convicts.

Hamilton County Commissioners and Cincinnati City Council approved resolutions Wednesday appropriating $8,460 each for opening and operating the Narcotic Out-Client and Residential Program from April 1 through June 30.

The center will be located in a house near downtown Cincinnati and will provide sleeping space for a total of about 12 to 14 addicts or users. Up to 65 persons will be able to take part in the program at the same time.

Employment counseling and vocational training will be available. Persons accepted in the program or those referred to it will also participate in group sessions to discuss drug problems.

Urine analysis will be made to assure that participants no longer use drugs.

The staff of the Talbert House half-way house for ex-convicts, developed the project and will administer it.

Drug Rehabilitation Center To Open In Cincy April 1

CINCINNATI (AP) — A rehabilitation center for drug addicts and drug users will open here April 1 thanks to area government officials and the staff of a half-way house for ex-convicts.

Hamilton County Commissioners and Cincinnati City Council approved resolutions Wednesday appropriating $8,460 each for opening and operating the Narcotic Out-Client and Residential Program from April 1 through June 30.

The center will be located in a house near downtown Cincinnati and will provide sleeping space for a total of about 12 to 14 addicts or users. Up to 65 persons will be able to take part in the program at the same time.

Employment counseling and vocational training will be available. Persons accepted in the program or those referred to it will also participate in group sessions to discuss drug problems.

Urine analysis will be made to assure that participants no longer use drugs. The staff of the Talbert House-halfway house for ex-convicts, developed the project and will administer it.

Clover Power

What is it? It's hard to say, really. You can't go out and find Clover Power and look at it. And you can't point and say, "Here it is and there it isn't." But it's there just the same. Some 4-H members say they can feel it and they really can.

As one 4-H'er said, "You don't have to be told that you have Clover Power. When you've got it, you know it."

Oh, sure, you've seen the Clover Power pin (unless you are color blind), but that's not Clover Power, that's just a symbol. And just wearing it doesn't mean a thing unless you feel it.

There's no recipe for Clover Power . . . no magic formula. It's that special feeling a group of kids in 4-H have that says, "together we can do something." Clover Power is what happens when you don't quit. You keep trying. It's improving yourself. It's being satisfied only with your best.

Clover Power isn't carrying home the grand championship or a blue ribbon. It's what you learned getting there.

Clover Power is telling it like it is; but more than that, it's the vision of what we can make it. It's the genuine article. It's honest. And it's knowing yourself and being yourself.

Some 4-H'ers like to think of Clover Power as sharing. One young person put it this way, "Clover Power is me leaving a part of myself with others, and me taking a part of others with me."

Clover Power is getting involved — really involved in 4-H. It's knowing what's happening.

What is it? It's the spirit of 4-H . . . the enthusiasm of 4-H members. It's something that really grabs you when you're doing your best and you do it even better.

Some people say 4-H shouldn't change, that too many ideas will somehow harm what is good about 4-H. But when you really stop and think about it, Clover Power's been there all the time. We just never called it that before. CLOVER POWER — IT'S THE GROWING THING.

British Example

Despite the advice of some critics that the government still isn't doing enough, Britain's record of the last few years in reducing air pollution is an enviable one, particularly in the city of London.

The capital undoubtedly was one of the dirtiest cities in the world before a concerted effort was begun to clean the air with the passage of the Clean Air Act of 1956. Today, the city is one of the cleanest among larger metropolitan areas.

Alarmed by a persistent fog which killed 4,000 people in 1952, London officials went about their clean-up efforts with a vengeance. The attack was directed mainly at private dwellings, many of which burned smoke-producing coal. Smokeless fuels now are used almost exclusively throughout the city and the contrast is as evident as day and night.

Other nations, including the United States, could learn something from the British example. As for Londoners, they are now turning their attention to cleaning the polluted rivers. An impossible task some might have said once. Not any more.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prospects for a nonstrike settlement of a new steel-labor contract by August 1 are hardly improving.

"Further labor cost increases—both in steel and out—must

You're Telling Me

By William Kitt
Central Press Writer:

The director of a ghost-writer service estimates that in an average week some 11,000 speeches are made in New York alone. Maybe that's what is meant by that familiar phrase — "the talk of the town."

A critic refers to all that gabbing as verbal pollution. Guess that's just an up-to-date way of saying "too much hot air."

A new long-playing musical record can be twisted into any contortion without damage. The melody just lingers on?

sooner or later lead to higher costs for steel users." This bold-face headline all but announces upcoming price increases.

And what but a strike is suggested by this final reminder: "Steel labor contracts due to expire in 1971. A one per cent wage hike in each of three years could boost U.S. Steel's total employment cost $68 million by the third year."

Big Steel isn't saying there will be a strike, but if it feels that a one per cent wage hike will add a huge burden to its existing problems, what can it do when presented with demands 10 times higher?

Such demands are almost certainly following the three-year, 30 per cent increase the steelworkers won from National Can Corporation. But additional demands also may be made, such as for a shorter work week.

A grim situation is developing. Workers are angry at constant increases in the cost of living and feel they are entitled to not only a "keep pace" increase but one that will permit them to improve their living standards.

Steel manufacturers are equally adamant, maintaining that not only is theirs one of the least profitable industries already but that costs are so far out of line that they cannot compete against foreign competition.

"Steel Labor Cost . . . foreign gap widening," the U.S. Steel report declares adding these specifics: "U.S.A. employment cost now $3.88 per hour over Japan cost—and this gap has widened from $3.51 in 1965 . . ."

And again: "Steel and inflation . . . workers ahead of companies . . . Since 1965, cost of living has increased 23 per cent, but hourly wages and benefits have increased 27 per cent."

Meanwhile, says Big Steel, "profits of steel companies have slipped from 6.5 cents per dollar of sales in 1957-1959 to 5.90 cents in 1965 and 2.7 cents in 1970."

Is this all labor's fault? The report concedes that steel wages have risen only slightly more than the cost of living in the same period. And there is that matter also of 17 per cent steel price increases in the same time.

The steel industry has many problems other than labor and foreign competition. It has competition from other products, such as plastics. And it has the expensive matters of modernization and pollution control to contend with.

No, the plight of steel is not created by labor alone, and neither is steel responsible alone for the rise in personal expenses, incurred by its workers at home. These are broader problems, and they cannot be removed by negotiations.

Try and Stop Me

THEY are recalling the day a hoity-toity, sharp-tongued stage star condescended to sit at the famous Algonquin Round Table luncheon conclave, and Dorothy Parker slapped her down by remarking, "There are two things about you I simply cannot stand: your face."

Once upon a time, when Robert Benchley, not to mention Dorothy Parker and Robert Sherwood, were giving their all on the editorial staff of Vanity Fair, an efficiency expert suddenly appeared upon the scene. One of his first decrees—deeply resented by the creative spirits toiling for the magazine—was that any one late for work would have to fill out a form explaining why. Benchley obliged at once with this report: six elephants had escaped from backstage at the Hippodrome and made a beeline for the dock of the Fall River Line at the East River. Benchley single-handed had rounded up the pachyderms, thereby preventing a marine disaster, and paraded them back to the Hippodrome. And that was why he had arrived at the office eleven minutes late!

Both Benchley and Parker have been credited with the line, "Yes, I once was the toast of two continents: Greenland and Australia," but I think it was Frank Sullivan who said it first.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My parents and my husband are very understanding about the fact that I constantly brood about death. They try to help me, but sometimes I can't get it off my mind. I am 23 years old and have been married for two and a half years. I want to be happy and will try anything.

Mrs. A.V., Ind.
Dear Mrs. V.: Forgive me for extracting only this part of your letter. The rest of it tells me how deeply you are suffering, perhaps unnecessarily, from these fears.

Yours is not a complicated problem, and moreover, you have taken the first important step in the direction of a cure. You have begun to talk about your fears to your parents and to your husband. Most people keep such fears to themselves. Fears then become so ingrained that they are difficult to eradicate.

Yes, I think I can help you, and the help I can offer is that you shift your discussions on death from your family to your doctor and to a psychiatrist. Both are equipped to trace the origins of your fear. After you gain better insight into these causes, your anxieties will be controlled and once again you will enjoy the benefits of sound emotional health.

Cordobes And Ali

By JEFFERY HART

It was strikingly appropriate that among the myriad celebrities at Madison Square Garden for the Ali-Frazier fight was a Spaniard visiting New York for the first time, Manuel Benitez, or "El Cordobes." His presence, of course, was far from coincidental, since he is negotiating with the fight promoters to do a similar closed-circuit telecast of a bullfight this June. However, the conjunction of Cordobes and Ali was more poetic than commercial.

In many ways Cordobes is the Spanish Ali — a highly individualistic and unorthodox matador, disdained by connoisseurs of the traditional style, but also an electric presence and a fantastically popular hero.

The first time I saw Cordobes was at a Costa del Sol resort called Benidorm, and the circumstances were ideal. On the card with him was an epitome of the orthodox, classical style, an ex-seminarian named Mondeno. The essence of the classical style is extreme restraint, the almost stationary matador controlling the bull with the cape and with small movements, holding his ground as the bull charges by. Mondeno was brilliant, always under taut control, graceful: cape, man and bull finally moving in a slow, controlled dance, with Mondeno always dominant. The effect was overwhelming.

Then Cordobes came on, entirely different, the romantic and passionate man as against the controlled classicism of Mondeno, red and gold where Mondeno had worn severe white and gold. Cordobes looks like a Spanish version of Bobby Kennedy and he has the same effect on a crowd. Where the crowd was hushed by Mondeno's aristocratic performance, they were very much with Cordobes, in the ring with him, the stands turbulent with feeling. In contrast to the almost stationary Mondeno, Cordobes is in constant motion, taking great risks. He has been seriously gored three times and wounded about a dozen times. He plays the bull with a quickening rhythm; he shouts at the bull; the climax comes when Cordobes thinks he has the bull under control. He walks up to the bull, turns his back to him and kneels on the sand.

Once again the effect is overwhelming, though in a different way. The crowd is awed by Mondeno, the classicalist, but it experiences a great relief with Cordobes. The sky over the ring becomes black with hats and women's pocketbooks, the crowd is delirious with joy. Cordobes runs around the ring flinging the pocketbooks back into the crowd. After a while, the Mayor awards him both ears and the tail and again the crowd goes wild.

To the traditional aficionados, this is all rather vulgar, and they believe Cordobes doesn't belong in the same ring with Mondeno. I don't agree. I remember seeing Ali, then Cassius Clay, fight Doug Jones at least ten years ago. From the moment Ali entered the ring, despite his antics and despite the so-called flaws in his technique — the leaning back instead of slipping the punch, etc. — there was no doubt in my mind that he was a super-athlete. Sonny Liston will kill him, people were saying.

The New York Times took note of Cordobes' presence in the Garden to sermonize editorially to the effect that both boxing and bullfighting ought to be abolished as barbaric and stupid. And you keep running across Americans in Spain who hate the whole thing and root for the bull against the man. The Spaniards look upon such animalarians as morally depraved. For bullfighting, like boxing at its best Monday night in the Garden, is an art form and an experience of great intensity.

When Cordobes first gazed upon the New York skyscrapers, his response had more than a touch of Ali about it. "If I had known what this city was like I would have doubled my fee," he said.

By HAL BOYLE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — In a moment of weakness, I allowed my wife to purchase an aquarium for my son.

The idea was that it would be an educational birthday present and the fish would stretch the kid's mind. Not a bad idea. It sounded like something Sesame Street might go for, so I gave her the money.

It was a mistake that is apt to be with me a while. Like the next 50 years.

A couple of days after approving the purchase, I came home to find my wife poring over six large books, which she had bought. The books, highly technical affairs with small print and complicated looking graphs and diagrams, came to quite a few dollars.

"Listen," said my wife, her tone precluding my lectures on economy, "you just can't go out and buy an aquarium. This is a very big deal. You have to know what kind of marine life can live in the aquarium, what kind of fish eat other fish and what sort of ferns to put in there. This, my man, takes research."

A week later, I was sitting in the living room when my wife walked in the front door with a small sack filled with pamphlets telling me how to set up the aquarium which, at that moment, was in the trunk of the car.

"You're going to love this," she said. "The ferns and little things I got to go inside the tank just about match the bedspread in Gavin's room. He is going to love this. I just know it."

The aquarium was enormous, maybe four feet long and more than a foot high. It came with its own set of chemical solutions, a complicated heating rod to keep the water at tropical temperature, a gadget that filled the water with air bubbles.

It took me 10 days to set it up. I then suggested that we pour in some tap water and buy a few goldfish and forget it. My wife was horrified. "Listen, pal, you've got to get serious about this. You can't just put any old water in there . . . We've got to get some sea water."

A 400-mile roundtrip to the sea followed. In bad weather, I noticed, the sea is the color of dollar bills. Finally, we were ready for the fish.

My wife, a few days later, called me at the office to tell me that the fish were in the tank and would I mind picking up a few ounces of shrimp eggs on the way home. Shrimp eggs? Yes. She had decided that sea horses would be nice because they are unusual.

Have you any idea how expensive shrimp eggs are, or how many it takes to fill up the belly of two small sea horses? Or how difficult it is to find shrimp eggs?

Finally, we were forced to give the horses to a friend who has an even more elaborate stand. For days the water stood empty, the bubbles floating to the surface and making a burping noise as they popped.

But, yesterday, my wife called me at the office and asked "What would you think about having a piranha?"

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Prospects for a nonstrike settlement of a new steel-labor contract by August 1 are hardly improving.

U.S. Steel Monday left no doubt about its position on wages, releasing with its annual report a stark page of charts and statistics entitled, "Hard Facts Facing Steel Wage Bargaining," embellished only with ominous subheads.

"Further labor cost increases—both in steel and out—must sooner or later lead to higher costs for steel users." This bold-face headline all but announces upcoming price increases.

And what but a strike is suggested by this final reminder: "Steel labor contracts due to expire in 1971. A one per cent wage hike in each of three years could boost U.S. Steel's total employment cost $68 million by the third year."

Big Steel isn't saying there will be a strike, but if it feels that a one per cent wage hike will add a huge burden to its existing problems, what can it do when presented with demands 10 times higher?

Such demands are almost certainly following the three-year, 30 per cent increase the steelworkers won from National Can Corporation. But additional demands also may be made, such as for a shorter work week.

A grim situation is developing. Workers are angry at constant increases in the cost of living and feel they are entitled to not only a "keep pace" increase but one that will permit them to improve their living standards.

Steel manufacturers are equally adamant, maintaining that not only is theirs one of the least profitable industries already but that costs are so far out of line that they cannot compete against foreign competition.

"Steel Labor Cost . . . foreign cost widening," the U.S. Steel report declares adding these specifics: "U.S.A. employment cost now $3.88 per hour over Japan cost—and this gap has widened from $3.51 in 1965 . . ."

And again: "Steel and inflation . . . workers ahead of companies . . . Since 1965, cost of living has increased 23 per cent, but hourly wages and benefits have increased 27 per cent."

Meanwhile, says Big Steel, "profits of steel companies have slipped from 6.5 cents per dollar of sales in 1957-1959 to 5.9 cents in 1965 and 2.7 cents in 1970."

Is this all labor's fault? The report concedes that steel wages have risen only slightly more than the cost of living in the same period. And there is that matter also of 17 per cent steel price increases in the same time.

The steel industry has many problems other than labor and foreign competition. It has competition from other products, such as plastics. And it has the expensive matters of modernization and pollution control to contend with.

No, the plight of steel is not created by labor alone, and neither is steel responsible alone for the rise in personal expenses, incurred by its workers at home. These are broader problems, and they cannot be removed by negotiations.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THEY are recalling the day a hoity-toity, sharp-tongued stage star condescended to sit at the famous Algonquin Round Table luncheon conclave, and Dorothy Parker slapped her down by remarking, "There are two things about you I simply cannot stand: your face."

Once upon a time, when Robert Benchley, not to mention Dorothy Parker and Robert Sherwood, were giving their all on the editorial staff of Vanity Fair, an efficiency expert suddenly appeared upon the scene. One of his first decrees—deeply resented by the creative spirits toiling for the magazine—was that any one late for work would have to fill out a form explaining why. Benchley obliged at once with this report: six elephants had escaped from backstage at the Hippodrome and made a beeline for the dock of the Fall River Line at the East River. Benchley single-handed had rounded up the pachyderms, thereby preventing a marine disaster, and paraded them back to the Hippodrome. And that was why he had arrived at the office eleven minutes late!

Both Benchley and Parker have been credited with the line, "Yes, I once was the toast of two continents: Greenland and Australia," but I think it was Frank Sullivan who said it first.

"Overweight people," observes Jan Murray, "generally watch what they eat very closely—all the way from plate to mouth!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My parents and my husband are very understanding about the fact that I constantly brood about death. They try to help me, but sometimes I can't get it off my mind. I am 23 years old and have been married for two and a half years. I want to be happy and will try anything.

Mrs. A.V., Ind.
Dear Mrs. V.: Forgive me for extracting only this part of your letter. The rest of it tells me how deeply you are suffering, perhaps unnecessarily, from these fears.

Yours is not a complicated problem, and moreover, you have taken the first important step in the direction of a cure. You have begun to talk about your fears to your parents and to your husband. Most people keep such fears to themselves. Fears then become so ingrained that they are difficult to eradicate.

Yes, I think I can help you, and the help I can offer is that you shift your discussions on death from your family to your doctor and to a psychiatrist. Both are equipped to trace the origins of your fear. After you gain better insight into these causes, your anxieties will be controlled and once again you will enjoy the benefits of sound emotional health.

My grandson, who is 23, is paralyzed from the waist down. He was in an automobile accident. He now has a fine income from insurance and has adjusted to his condition. Someone told me that a paraplegic can live only 10 years and I fear that he will not survive.

Mrs. E.R., Ga.
Dear Mrs. R.: It is a never-ending source of gratification that people like your grandson can adjust so remarkably to a physical catastrophe. With wonderment, I speak to dozens of paraplegics and am overwhelmed by their inner reserve. My admiration for them is limitless.

Whoever told you a paraplegic can live only 10 years imposed his ignorance on you and unnecessarily distressed you. Your grandson will have a normal span of years and, by his ability to compensate for his handicap, will continue to grow and prosper. Take courage from him.

What is a hydrocele? Is it dangerous?

Mr. E.J., Va.
Dear Mr. J.: A hydrocele is a collection of fluid in a small sac that surrounds the testicle. It is not dangerous. Surgery clears up the condition. The testicle is rarely permanently affected.

When heart patients can once more become fully active after a heart attack and when they are not fearful, then indeed they have fully recovered.

Give Grammy Awards For Best Songs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Simon and Garfunkel's "Bridge Over Troubled Water," has won six Grammy awards—the recording industry's counterpart of the movies' Oscars and television's Emmys.

The awards, gold-plated miniatures of an old-style horn phonograph, went to the song Tuesday night as the best record, album and song of the year and as the best contemporary song, the best engineered recording and the best arranged vocal recording.

The Carpenters, brother and sister ballad singers, were honored in two categories—as best new artists of the year and for best contemporary vocal performance by a duo, group or chorus. The second Grammy was for their recording of "Close to You."

Flip Wilson's "The Devil Made Me Buy This Dress" was judged the best comedy recording.

The 13th annual Grammy awards of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences honor creative achievement in recording during 1970.

The presentation ceremony was televised live nationally for the first time.

Andy Williams was master of ceremonies at the Palladium ballroom.

For Beatles fans, Paul McCartney attended and was pursued by shrieking camera flashers as he ran to his car in the parking lot with his wife Linda after the awards. He told newsmen he had been here three weeks to work on an album.

McCartney had collected the Grammy for himself and Beatles John Lennon and George Harrison as composers of "Let It Be." The song was honored as best original score written for a motion picture or TV special.

Cordobes And Ali

By JEFFERY HART

It was strikingly appropriate that among the myriad celebrities at Madison Square Garden for the Ali-Frazier fight was a Spaniard visiting New York for the first time, Manuel Benitez, or "El Cordobes." His presence, of course, was far from coincidental, since he is negotiating with the fight promoters to do a similar closed-circuit telecast of a bullfight this June. However, the conjunction of Cordobes and Ali was more poetic than commercial.

In many ways Cordobes is the Spanish Ali — a highly individualistic and unorthodox matador, disdained by connoisseurs of the traditional style, but also an electric presence and a fantastically popular hero.

The first time I saw Cordobes was at a Costa del Sol resort called Benidorm, and the circumstances were ideal. On the card with him was an epitome of the orthodox, classical style, an ex-seminarian named Mondeno. The essence of the classical style is extreme restraint, the almost stationary matador controlling the bull with the cape and with small movements, holding his ground as the bull charges by. Mondeno was brilliant, always under taut control, graceful; cape, man and bull finally moving in a slow, controlled dance, with Mondeno always dominant. The effect was overwhelming.

Then Cordobes came on, entirely different, the romantic and passionate man as against the controlled classicism of Mondeno, red and gold where Mondeno had worn severe white and gold. Cordobes looks like a Spanish version of Bobby Kennedy and he has the same effect on a crowd. Where the crowd was hushed by Mondeno's aristocratic performance, they were very much with Cordobes, in the ring with him, the stands turbulent with feeling. In contrast to the almost stationary Mondeno, Cordobes is in constant motion, taking great risks. He has been seriously gored three times and wounded about a dozen times. He plays the bull with a quickening rhythm: he shouts at the bull; the climax comes when Cordobes thinks he has the bull under control. He walks up to the bull, turns his back to him and kneels on the sand.

Once again the effect is overwhelming, though in a different way. The crowd is awed by Mondeno, the classicist, but it experiences a great relief with Cordobes. The sky over the ring becomes black with hats and women's pocketbooks, the crowd is delirious with joy. Cordobes runs around the ring flinging the pocketbooks back into the crowd. After a while, the Mayor awards him both ears and the tail and again the crowd goes wild.

To the traditional aficionados, this is all rather vulgar, and they believe Cordobes doesn't belong in the same ring with Mondeno. I don't agree. I remember seeing Ali, then Cassius Clay, fight Doug Jones at least ten years ago. From the moment Ali entered the ring, despite his antics and despite the so-called flaws in his technique — the leaning back instead of slipping the punch, etc. — there was no doubt in my mind that he was a super-athlete. Sonny Liston will kill him, people were saying.

The New York Times took note of Cordobes' presence in the Garden to sermonize editorially to the effect that both boxing and bullfighting ought to be abolished as barbaric and stupid. And you keep running across Americans in Spain who hate the whole thing and root for the bull against the man. The Spaniards look upon such animalarians as morally depraved. For bullfighting, like boxing at its best Monday night in the Garden, is an art form and an experience of great intensity.

When Cordobes first gazed upon the New York skyscrapers, his response had more than a touch of Ali about it. "If I had known what this city was like I would have doubled my fee," he said.

By HAL BOYLE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — In a moment of weakness, I allowed my wife to purchase an aquarium for my son.

The idea was that it would be an educational birthday present and the fish would stretch the kid's mind. Not a bad idea. It sounded like something Sesame Street might go for, so I gave her the money.

It was a mistake that is apt to be with me a while. Like the next 50 years.

A couple of days after approving the purchase, I came home to find my wife poring over six large books, which she had bought. The books, highly technical affairs with small print and complicated looking graphs and diagrams, came to quite a few dollars.

"Listen," said my wife, her tone precluding my lectures on economy, "you just can't go out and buy an aquarium. This is a very big deal. You have to know what kind of marine life can live in the aquarium, what kind of fish eat other fish and what sort of ferns to put in there. This, my man, takes research."

A week later, I was sitting in the living room when my wife walked in the front door with a small sack filled with pamphlets telling me how to set up the aquarium which, at that moment, was in the trunk of the car.

"You're going to love this," she said. "The ferns and little things I got to go inside the tank just about match the bedspread in Gavin's room. He is going to love this. I just know it."

The aquarium was enormous,

maybe four feet long and more than a foot high. It came with its own set of chemical solutions, a complicated heating rod to keep the water at tropical temperature, a gadget that filled the water with air bubbles.

It took me 10 days to set it up. I then suggested that we pour in some tap water and buy a few goldfish and forget it. My wife was horrified. "Listen, pal, you've got to get serious about this. You can't just put any old water in there . . . We've got to get some sea water."

A 400-mile roundtrip to the sea followed. In bad weather, I noticed, the sea is the color of dollar bills. Finally, we were ready for the fish.

My wife, a few days later, called me at the office to tell me that the fish were in the tank and would I mind picking up a few ounces of shrimp eggs on the way home. Shrimp eggs? Yes. She had decided that sea horses would be nice because they are unusual.

Have you any idea how expensive shrimp eggs are, or how many it takes to fill up the belly of two small sea horses? Or how difficult it is to find shrimp eggs? Finally, we were forced to give the horses to a friend who has an even more elaborate stand. For days the water stood empty, the bubbles floating to the surface and making a burping noise as they popped.

But, yesterday, my wife called me at the office and asked "What would you think about having a piranha?"

Ohio Highway
Center Work
To Continue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The executive director of the Transportation Research Center under construction near East Liberty, Ohio, said Tuesday its completion does not depend on location of a proposed federal auto safety compliance center at the site.

Ohio is one of two states being considered for the federal center, which would develop and evaluate auto parts to see if meet Department of Transportation safety standards.

Dr. Frank W. Shelton Jr. said the state facility was established and funded before the compliance center was under consideration.

He said Ohio would welcome the federal installation, but will continue plans for the state center in any case. He said construction will begin by April 1 on a building to house an impact sled which is expected to be operational by the end of this year.

Snow Falls
In Rockies
And Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A powerful late-winter storm swept the central Plains with heavy and blowing snow today and churned up clouds of dust from New Mexico to Kansas.

Stockmen and travelers were warned of drifting snow and hazardous conditions in parts of Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa.

Five to 10 inches of snow piled into much of central and southwestern Wyoming through Wednesday. One to 2 inches fell in western Nebraska and adjacent South Dakota areas during the night.

A 3-inch snow whitened the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Winds in excess of 50 miles an hour were common along with the snow. Gusts up to 60 buffeted Colorado Springs and Pueblo, Colo.

Blowing dust clouded sections of Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. High-wind warnings were in effect for southwest Texas west of the Pecos River.

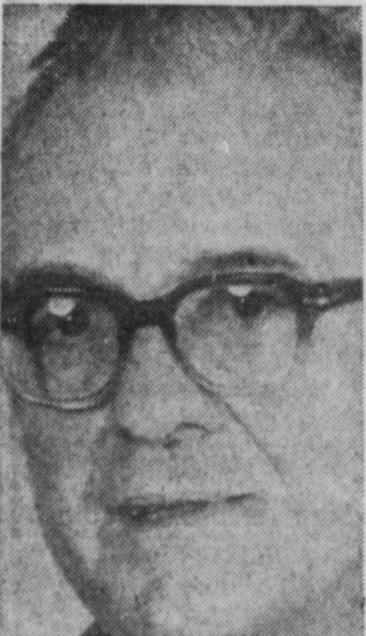

More-pleasant weather was the rule in most other portions of the nation.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 9 at Butte, Mont., to 73 at McAllen and Corpus Christi, Tex.

Ohio Highway Center Work To Continue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The executive director of the Transportation Research Center under construction near East Liberty, Ohio, said Tuesday its completion does not depend on location of a proposed federal auto safety compliance center at the site.

Ohio is one of two states being considered for the federal center, which would develop and evaluate auto parts to see if meet Department of Transportation safety standards.

Dr. Frank W. Shelton Jr. said the state facility was established and funded before the compliance center was under consideration.

He said Ohio would welcome the federal installation, but will continue plans for the state center in any case. He said construction will begin by April 1 on a building to house an impact sled which is expected to be operational by the end of this year.

Stockmen and travelers were warned of drifting snow and hazardous conditions in parts of Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa.

Five to 10 inches of snow piled into much of central and southwestern Wyoming through Wednesday. One to 2 inches fell in western Nebraska and adjacent South Dakota areas during the night.

'Evolution Of Fashion' Program For Monday Club

The program for the latest meeting of Monday Club was presented by Mrs. Doyle Pa nter who used as her topic "Evolution Of Fashion." She was introduced by Mrs. F. C. Tammany, program chairman. Mrs. Painter said that 3000 B.C. was the earliest civilization of which we have adequate records of costumes. As with all ancient civilizations the evolution of style of dress was a gradual process occupying a long time. Each mode was often worn for hundreds of years.

Anthropologists and social historians are agreed that clothes in the past have been worn for three main reasons, for warmth and protection, to mark the status of the wearer and to attract the opposite sex. All of the reasons are still valid to varying degrees. Perhaps we are on the eve of a drastic reassessment of our attitude to clothes.

Mrs. Painter reviewed the fashions of the past 50 years. In the 1910-1920 era there was Paul Poirer's daring empire style, his daring kimona pattern. In 1918 Chanel introduced jersey cloth for the chemise and we all have been living in tricot cloth every since.

Perhaps the biggest story pertaining to costume is that of fabrics. For thousands of years the natural fibers, wool, linen, cotton and silk have been woven into cloth. But with the invention of rayon in the last century the spinning and weaving of the man-made textile filament has come far.

Patty Painter, Barbara Schneider, Barbara Painter, Terry Alloway and DeDe Poling modeled styles of clothing and fabric of the present and future.

Mrs. Painter concluded her paper by stating that the past has contributed to the look of today and that women are better dressed and more stylish than ever before. There are extremes but also a wider choice of style.

25,000 Workers Are Laid Off By Cincy-GM

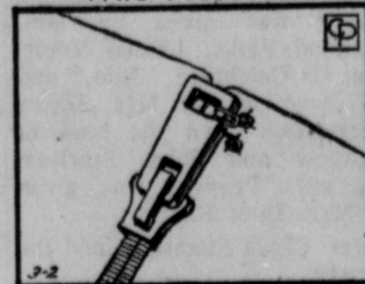

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two General Motors Corp. plants here have returned to two-shift operations, resulting in the lay-off of about 2,500 workers.

The work force at the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants here is now about 6,000, the same as when the third shift was started in March of 1970. The third-shift ended Wednesday.

General Motors announced in January that the layoffs would be made because at the time, orders placed during the nationwide GM strike had been met and new orders were not coming in as expected.

Workers were laid off on a seniority basis, not according to shifts, a company spokesman said.

Church Class Has Program On Indians

Crusaders Class of Calvary United Methodist Church met Friday in the church annex. Present for the carry-in supper and program were 35 members and guests.

Following the meal, Margie DeLong introduced her guests, Mrs. Jim Ullman and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rittinger. They showed pictures of their work trip to an Indian School near Phoenix, Ariz. Included was a picture of a room Mr. Rittinger helped build. He also taught Sunday School while he was there. Other pictures shown were of the school and some of the children who live there. They said that the children were always laughing and seemed very happy.

A brief business session followed the program. President, Louis Gerlach, read information on the boy in Hong Kong the class is supporting.

It was voted to buy two Easter flowers for the church which will later be given to Mrs. Minnie Lump and Mrs. Finley Jones. This month's fruit basket will be given to Mrs. Bill Blaney, who is presently in the hospital.

Mr. Gerlach reminded members about the food box that is kept at the church to be used when needed.

Devotions were led by Maxine Gerlach reading Scripture and the poem, "The Quiet Heart" and closed the meeting with prayer.

25,000 Workers Are Laid Off By Cincy-GM

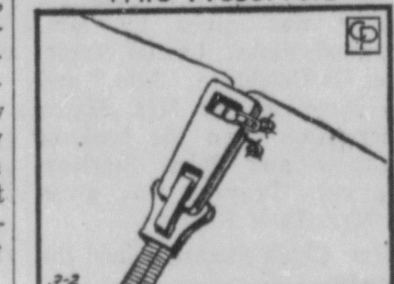

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two General Motors Corp. plants here have returned to two-shift operations, resulting in the lay-off of about 2,500 workers.

The work force at the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants here is now about 6,000, the same as when the third shift was started in March of 1970. The third-shift ended Wednesday.

General Motors announced in January that the layoffs would be made because at the time, orders placed during the nationwide GM strike had been met and new orders were not coming in as expected.

Workers were laid off on a seniority basis, not according to shifts, a company spokesman said.

Liquor Chief Cuts Brands

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control said Wednesday state stores may quit selling between 25 and 33 per cent of the brands now on store shelves.

Richard E. Guggenheim said "I know that may cause a big stir, but we've got too many items that aren't selling."

Guggenheim a former vice president of the U.S. Shoe Corp. in Cincinnati, indicated he considered it bad business to be carrying merchandise that is not selling.

He said that with relatively few exceptions, liquors that come in fancy decanters will be among the items that will disappear from state stores. The department has $844,000 worth of such decanters in its inventory and most of them are just sitting there," Guggenheim said.

He also said state stores may suffer shortages of some major brands of liquors and may offer others at special sale prices in the next few months so the department can reduce its inventory as required by law.

Girl Bitter; Dad Wins 'Hippie' Case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A University of Louisville coed has expressed bitterness over an appeals court ruling that her father is not required to support her at school. The father had frowned on what he called her "hippie" life style.

"My father has spent more money to fight this case than he would have if he would have just given me the money," the coed said. "I'm very bitter about this reversal."

Neither the girl nor her father was identified in the court's public records, but a coed who said she was the girl spoke with a Louisville Courier-Journal reporter Tuesday night.

The Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court ruled 4-to-1 Tuesday in reversing a lower court order requiring the girl's father to pay her support or be imprisoned for 30 days.

In the initial action before Family Court, the father said he cut off funds because his daughter was a "hippie" whose life-style "stinks."

The appellate majority said, "The father—in return for his maintenance and support—is entitled to set reasonable standards, rules and regulations for his child. The court below misconceived its function. It is not to substitute its judgment for that of the father."

Space Plum For U.S. Dangles

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — America can pluck a $1 billion plum for its space program if it is willing to provide rockets to launch European communications satellites.

That's the amount 16 European nations are willing to contribute to the United States' post-Apollo manned space effort if the thorny issue of the communications satellites can be solved.

State Department and national Aeronautics and Space Administration officials are working behind the scenes to obtain approval to launch the payloads from two-thirds of the 77 members of Intelsat—the global commercial communications satellite system.

Under Intelsat regulations, no member nation can launch a communications payload that would be harmful to the international consortium.

The issue was raised at a space shuttle conference Tuesday by Jean Bernard LeGarde of France, liaison officer for the European Space Conference.

He told several hundred scientists and engineers that the United States must give a positive answer by late April or early May when the conference nations are to meet at the ministerial level to consider participation in America's post-Apollo programs.

Test Discloses Blankets Blaze

WASHINGTON (AP) — An independent product testing organization says blankets containing 35 per cent rayon catch fire in one second when exposed to flame.

Consumers Union, publishers of "Consumer Reports" magazine, said in telegrams from its Mount Vernon, N.Y., headquarters Tuesday that the rayon blankets it tested blazed four to five times as fast as all-acrylic blankets. Woolen blankets did not ignite at all when a lighted match was dropped on them, it said.

NEW YORK (AP) — It is spring practice time for television viewers. The idea is to develop one's skill in ducking reruns.

Only five regular series showed repeats Wednesday night, so only beginners skill was required to avoid them. But as the weeks roll on, reruns will take over almost completely and the viewer will be hard put to find satisfactory entertainment.

Most television series consist of episodes that lose enchantment the second time around. The easy way would seem to be a summer-time switch of allegiance to a program on another network in the same time period.

It just doesn't work that way. "Men from Shiloh" fans obviously are not going to buckle down happily with "The Courtship of Eddie's Father." Maybe "To Rome with Love" viewers will find happiness with Henry Fonda and "The Smith Family."

"Men at Law" is coming to an end, canceled by CBS after its first season, but it is still using new material. The story Wednesday had a promising start: A young woman was trying to persuade her ailing grandfather to leave a quack's sanitarium. The charlatan was murdered—but then the story went down hill fast with a sorry imitation of a "Perry Mason" type courtroom denouncement.

NBC's "Music Hall" also is still among the living. Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme were the principals in sketches presuming to show the horrors of suburban life. Sid Caesar and Barbara Eden were a couple of rude, celebrity-made neighbors in a thing that was on much too long: Anne Mearns was a slattern of a maid, a character exaggerated far beyond humor. Ah, well, it was nice when Steve and Eydie were singing, which was not often enough.

SALT CREEK VALLEY

Star Grange members traveled across the county to visit with Salt Creek Valley Grangers at their regular meeting held last night and to present the program for the organization.

Space Plum For U.S. Dangles

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — America can pluck a $1 billion plum for its space program if it is willing to provide rockets to launch European communications satellites.

That's the amount 16 European nations are willing to contribute to the United States' post-Apollo manned space effort for the thorny issue of the communications satellites can be solved.

State Department and national Aeronautics and Space Administration officials are working behind the scenes to obtain approval to launch the payloads from two-thirds of the 77 members of Itelsat—the global commercial communications satellite system.

Under Intelsat regulations, no member nation can launch a communications payload that would be harmful to the international consortium.

The issue was raised at a space shuttle conference Tuesday by Jean Bernard LeGarde of France, liaison officer for the European Space Conference.

He told several hundred scientists and engineers that the United States must give a positive answer by late April or early May when the conference nations are to meet at the ministerial level to consider participation in America's post-Apollo programs.

Test Discloses Blankets Blaze

WASHINGTON (AP) — An independent product testing organization says blankets containing 35 per cent rayon catch fire in one second when exposed to flame.

Consumers Union, publishers of "Consumer Reports" magazine, said in telegrams from its Mount Vernon, N.Y., headquarters Tuesday that the rayon blankets it tested blazed four to five times as fast as all-acrylic blankets. Woolen blankets did not ignite at all when a lighted match was dropped on them, it said.

Auditor Fees Challenged By Lawsuit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The return of an estimated $30 million in real estate transfer fees collected by county auditors is sought in a suit filed in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court against the treasurers of Ohio's 88 counties.

Edwin F. Woodie contends in his suit filed Wednesday that the state law under which county auditors collect a fee of 10 cents per $100 value for processing the guarantor's statement of value in real estate sales is unconstitutional.

Although the fees are collected by the county auditor, the law provides that he turn the money over to the county treasurer who must put it in the county general fund.

The fee, enacted by the Ohio Legislature effective Jan. 1, 1968, replaced the U.S. revenue stamps formerly required on all deed transfers. The federal stamp tax of $1.10 per $1,000 valuation was levied as a tax, whereas the present state charge is a fee for the county auditor's service.

Woodie filed the suit on behalf of his law firm—Woodie, Wachtel, Begam and Wolk—which formerly held a Lake County property in trust and paid a fee of $15 to the county when the property was sold.

Woodie contends the Ohio law is unconstitutional because it provides for varying fees, depending on the value of the property, for the same service performed by the county auditor. This violates the constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the laws, he says. He estimates that since Jan. 1, 1968, fees totaling $30 million have been collected, including $15 million in Cuyahoga County.

GAO Report Urges Sharper Watch On Defense Outlays

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $2-million federal study of defense industry profits, critical of some Pentagon policies, urges a sharper government system to encourage contractors to cut costs and improve efficiency.

$825,000 Suit Filed In Death Of Ohio Man

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Kettering Memorial Hospital, two physicians and McNeil Laboratories of Washington, Pa., have been named defendants in an $825,000 suit stemming from the death of a Butler County man.

Louise Daley, widow of Donald Daley, filed the suit Wednesday in U. S. District Court. Mrs. Daley, now living in California, charged that her husband was operated on last Aug. 6 for a cataract and he died Aug. 21 from a cardiac arrest. She contended that use in the operation of the anesthetic, Innovet, led to the heart attack.

McNeil produces Innovet. The doctors named were Joseph Brow and Richard Dobies.

While releasing another report of an 18-month study ordered by Congress, Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats repeatedly defended the practices of his General Accounting Office in preparing the review.

There have been published reports that GAO revised and softened an original draft of the document after submitting it to the Pentagon and contractor trade groups. But Staats told a news conference Wednesday "not a single figure has been changed" as a result of this pre-release review.

"The views of the associations and the agencies did not alter any of our conclusions" and did not affect the wording or arrangement of the final version, he said.

Unique Quilt Made In 1891 Proves Key To Ohioans

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Lineage mysteries of old Vermilion families are being unraveled through a unique quilt made in 1891.

Just as the Rosetta Stone led to the deciphering of Egyptian hieroglyphics, so the quilt is performing a useful task. Its owner, Theodore Wakefield of Vermilion, has even nicknamed his possession the "Rosetta Stone" of Vermilion.

The quilt, embroidered with red stitching on a white background, was created by women of the Congregational Church of Vermilion 80 years ago as a fund-raising project.

Worked into the quilt for 25 cents was the name of a family head. The name of each additional family member was also embroidered for 10 cents. Heads of families, who number 100, join in the center, creating a wheel effect.

The quilt was first brought to the attention of Wakefield by an antique dealer from Lorain. Recognizing some of the old family names from Vermilion, Wakefield purchased the quilt and loaned it to Bowling Green State University graduate student Tom Smith, who is studying the town's history.

His study is supported by a $650 grant from Vermilion's "Friends of Harbour Town, Inc." His information is to be published in a tourist guide. Smith hopes his study will establish the lineage of old Vermilion families when the town was a center of wooden shipbuilding and fishing on Lake Erie. The name of one shipbuilder from the mid-1800s, Capt. Alva Bradley, and some of his descendants are among those embroidered on the quilt.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who joined reporters in the questioning session at GAO headquarters, said the Senate-House Economic Committee heads, will have a hearing soon on defense profits, with Staats as a witness.

A Pentagon statement issued after the report's release said the GAO data "reflect conclusively that average defense profits based on sales or capital are lower than nondefense profits in American industry and that average profits earned on government business are neither excessive nor unreasonable."

GAO recommended developing government-wide guidelines "for determining profit objectives for negotiating government contracts that will emphasize consideration of the total amount of contractor capital required when appropriate where effective price competition is lapsing."

The study said profit measured as a percentage of sales was significantly lower on defense projects compared with commercial work of 74 large contractors.

However, it said, when measured as a percentage of contractors' total capital investment used in generating the sales, the difference narrowed. When compared as a percentage of equity capital investment of the stockholders, "we found very little difference in the rate of return for defense and commercial work."

7 Are Arrested In Drug Raids

CINCINNATI (AP) — Six young adults and a juvenile girl have been arrested in two separate raids in which Cincinnati Vice Control agents seized a quantity of hallucinogens and marijuana.

Charged with possession of hallucinogens were six persons taken into custody Wednesday at a residence in the Mount Auburn section. They are William Honroth, 22; James Foy, 24; David Steele, 21; Robert Gorski, 20; and Carl Lanzetta III, 21; all of Cincinnati and Marjorie Stewart, 17, of Detroit, Mich.

Adolphus Scott, 31, of Cincinnati was charged with illegal possession of a narcotic for sale as he was arrested at his residence.

Bomb Suspect Tries Suicide

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A 30-year-old Akron man charged in connection with the attempted bombing last month of the home of Ben Maidenburger, executive editor and publisher of the Akron Beacon Journal, tried to kill himself in his cell at the Summit County Jail Wednesday night, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Charles R. Lawrence had taken a lace from his shoe and tied it around his neck and was trying to choke himself to death when he was found during a routine inspection of the prisoners.

Akron police said they arrested Lawrence early Wednesday after confiscating a 10-stick dynamite bomb from a man leaving Lawrence's apartment.

Auditor Fees Challenged By Lawsuit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The return of an estimated $30 million in real estate transfer fees collected by county auditors is sought in a suit filed in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court against the treasurers of Ohio's 88 counties.

Edwin F. Woodie contends in his suit filed Wednesday that the state law under which county auditors collect a fee of 10 cents per $100 value for processing the guarantor's statement of value in real estate sales is unconstitutional.

Although the fees are collected by the county auditor, the law provides that he turn the money over to the county treasurer who must put it in the county general fund.

The fee, enacted by the Ohio Legislature effective Jan. 1, 1968, replaced the U.S. revenue stamps formerly required on all deed transfers. The federal stamp tax of $1.10 per $1,000 valuation was levied as a tax, whereas the present state charge is a fee for the county auditor's service.

Woodie filed the suit on behalf of his law firm—Woodie, Wachtel, Begam and Wolk—which formerly held a Lake County property in trust and paid a fee of $15 to the county when the property was sold.

Woodie contends the Ohio law is unconstitutional because it provides for varying fees, depending on the value of the property, for the same service performed by the county auditor. This violates the constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the laws, he says. He estimates that since Jan. 1, 1968, fees totaling $30 million have been collected, including $15 million in Cuyahoga County.

GAO Report Urges Sharper Watch On Defense Outlays

$825,000 Suit Filed In Death Of Ohio Man

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Kettering Memorial Hospital, two physicians and McNeil Laboratories of Washington, Pa., have been named defendants in an $825,000 suit stemming from the death of a Butler County man.

Louise Daley, widow of Donald Daley, filed the suit Wednesday in U. S. District Court. Mrs. Daley, now living in California, charged that her husband was operated on last Aug. 6 for a cataract and he died Aug. 21 from a cardiac arrest. She contended that use in the operation of the anesthetic, Innovet, led to the heart attack.

McNeil produces Innovet. The doctors named were Joseph Brow and Richard Dobries.

While releasing another report of an 18-month study ordered by Congress, Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats repeatedly defended the practices of his General Accounting Office in preparing the review.

There have been published reports that GAO revised and softened an original draft of the document after submitting it to the Pentagon and contractor trade groups. But Staats told a news conference Wednesday "not a single figure has been changed" as a result of this pre-release review.

"The views of the associations and the agencies did not alter any of our conclusions" and did not affect the wording or arrangement of the final version, he said.

Unique Quilt Made In 1891 Proves Key To Ohioans

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Lineage mysteries of old Vermilion families are being unraveled through a unique quilt made in 1891.

Just as the Rosetta Stone led to the deciphering of Egyptian hieroglyphics, so the quilt is performing a useful task. Its owner, Theodore Wakefield of Vermilion, has even nicknamed his possession the "Rosetta Stone" of Vermilion.

The quilt, embroidered with red stitching on a white background, was created by women of the Congregational Church of Vermilion 80 years ago as a fund-raising project.

'Throwaways' Are Blamed For Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says a major source of water pollution is the manufacture of throwaway products and certain detergents which have not "improved the real economy well being of consumers."

"The lion's share of responsibility for rise in production of pollutants must go to the gross improvement and the distribution of per-capita production and consumption of goods that took place" during the 1964-1968 study period, the EPA said in a report on the cost of clear water.

The federal agency blamed much of the increased pollution on the rise in paper production for "more elaborate packaging," the chemical industry, partly for "various disposable products," and more use of phosphorus in detergents and pre-soaks.

Other social factors such as population growth and expanded sewer service contributed to the problem, the anti-pollution agency said.

Industry, by far the largest contributor to increased water pollution is sending more of its wastes through public treatment facilities, the report said.

The report, sent to Congress last Saturday and circulated to news media Tuesday, is part of the administration's argument for water pollution legislation. One proposal would require payment of a fee to use public waste treatment facilities.

The administration also has proposed federal matching grants of $2 billion a year for three years to aid construction of treatment facilities.

The report said some $16 billion already has been invested in municipal waste treatment plants since 1952, some of it inefficiently.

One reason was a tendency of communities to build larger facilities than they needed, in anticipation of future growth, EPA said.

'Throwaways' Are Blamed For Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says a major source of water pollution is the manufacture of throwaway products and certain detergents which have not "improved the real economic well being of consumers."

"The lion's share of responsibility for rise in production of pollutants must go to the gross improvement and the distribution of per-capita production and consumption of goods that took place" during the 1964-1968 study period, the EPA said in a report on the cost of clear water.

The federal agency blamed much of the increased pollution on the rise in paper production for "more elaborate packaging," the chemical industry, partly for "various disposable products;" and more use of phosphorus in detergents and pre-soaks.

Other social factors such as population growth and expanded sewer service contributed to the problem, the anti-pollution agency said.

Industry, by far the largest contributor to increased water pollution is sending more of its wastes through public treatment facilities, the report said.

The report, sent to Congress last Saturday and circulated to news media Tuesday, is part of the administration's argument for water pollution legislation. One proposal would require payment of a fee to use public waste treatment facilities.

The administration also has proposed federal matching grants of $2 billion a year for three years to aid construction of treatment facilities.

The report said some $16 billion already has been invested in municipal waste treatment plants since 1952, some of it inefficiently.

One reason was a tendency of communities to build larger facilities than they needed, in anticipation of future growth, EPA said.

again Sunday, Mar. 14 when Mr. Ned J. Hettinger, age 82, passed away at his home in Monroe Twp. Mr. Hettinger was a resident near here for many years and was preceded in death by his wife, Mary Walker Hettinger.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Frances) Neff of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Fred (Katherine) Neff of Commercial Point; two sons, William of Commercial Point and Bob of Circleville; one brother, Nevin of Circleville and sister, Mrs. Amos Kerns of South Bloomingville. Also four grandchildren and one great-grandchild, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Wednesday 1:30 p.m. at the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville, with Rev. Carl Wetherell officiating. Interment was at Darbyville Cemetery.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the family.

Due to conflicting dates, the 40th Annual Homecoming, sponsored by the Men's Club, will be held earlier this year — July 22, 23 and 24. The Steinmetz Amusements will be present with their rides and other attractions. Remember the time and make your vacation dates accordingly.

The Men's Club will sponsor a Chicken Barbecue to be given at the fire house on April 24. Serving is to start at 4:30 p.m.

The 9th Annual Egg Hunt, sponsored by local businessman and sportsman, Bob Trego, will be held this Easter Sunday April 11. From 100 to 300 community children will be entertained to a gala fete when the kids will be given eggs and treats. The age is 12 years and under. Most parents here know and appreciate this occasion. Meet in the center of town promptly at 3 p.m.

Another death of a former resident here was of Miss Clara Dennis, age 84, of Columbus, who will be remembered by the few old-timers remaining. She is survived by two nephews, one niece and several cousins.

Church services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church with Rev. Walter Dickhaut officiating. Services were conducted by the Graumlich and Son Funeral Home with interment at Beckett Cemetery, Commercial Point.

The emergency squad received a false alarm Saturday and the sheriff's department investigated the call. This is a very dangerous "joke," and might involve someone's life or death. Break it up!

Sometimes things are forgotten and put away without just praise. We refer to our Scioto Junior High Basketball team of the year 1970-71. Under the leadership of Coach Charles Baxter, the team played a schedule of 16 games, winning 14 with an average winning score of 15.71 points per game. They also won the Pickaway County League Championship and played in the Groveport Invitational, where they won two and lost the championship game to Bexley by a score of 38-46.

In the 10 years of being a Junior Hi, this is the highest scoring team ever, averaging 58 points a game. Also the highest score in a single game — 74 points.

They have a ten year record of 90 wins and 23 losses. The team was composed of eight eighth graders and 12 seventh graders. The starting team, all 8th graders were Terry Southers, Terry Collins, Homer Yates, George Spohn and Bill Lawless. Others on the squad were Randy Graham, Mike Berger, Jim Hall, Craig Slone, Joe Ehman, Lee Caudill, Dan

Ohol, Jeff Cauer, Gom Green, Scott Edwards, Scott Cordray, Mark Sheekherd, Greg Adkins, Karl Gray and Kip Smith.

Leading scorers were Terry Southers, averaging 17 points a game and Homer Yates with 14 points. Terry Southers shot 54 per cent for the year and George Spohn was the leading rebounder, averaging 13 points per game.

Coach Baxter and his assistants are to be praised for their fine services and the boys are to be congratulated for a job well done. The Community is proud of them all, and everyone is anxiously waiting to see how they fare when they enter Senior High School. Most of them will go to Teays Valley — so watch out!
Thanks boys!

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Brief comments accompany the new titles which are mentioned below. These books are recent additions to the Sneek-A-Peek room.

"In the Night Kitchen" by Maurice Sendak is a whimsical dream sequence by the winner of last year's "Hans Christian Anderson Award." Like "Where the Wild Things Are," this book is for the very young.

"The Misunderstood Skunk" by Lilo Hess shows the appeal of this helpful animal in excellent black and white photographs. "Aquatic Insects and How they Live" by Robert McClung is a clear presentation of its subject. Mr. McClung's scientific drawings are easily understood. "Call of a Loon" by John Hamburger has carefully drawn pen-and-ink illustrations which carry the author-artist's message, though there are few words. Several kinds of Canadian pond life are shown with sympathy and grace.

Mary Adrian's theme is the chain of life in "A Day and a Night in the Arctic." One by one, she discusses the links, how they care for their young, feed themselves, and are in turn food for larger species. Two polar bear cubs and their mother are of prime interest. Genevieve Vaughan-Jackson has done excellent black-and-white illustrations which point up the meaning of the text.

"Chemistry of Life" by A. Rae Patton, illustrated by Zenowij Onyszkewych and George T. Resch is written for the upper elementary grades. It is a fine resource book for science classes.

"Kids Cooking, a First Cookbook for Children" by Aileen Paul and Arthur Hawkins is for

Bell Workers Set Big Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Workers says it will demand a one-year wage increase of at least 25 per cent from the Bell Telephone System in bargaining beginning next month.

"We have the facts and figures to realistically demonstrate the need for a 25 per cent increase right away," said the union's president Joseph A. Beirne.

His union represents nearly 500,000 of the telephone operators, clerks, installers, repairmen and other workers in the 21 Bell companies across the nation. He said the Communications Workers generally sets the pattern for all Bell employees, totaling some 900,000. Most of the union's contracts expire by May.

again Sunday, Mar. 14 when Mr. Ned J. Hettinger, age 82, passed away at his home in Monroe Twp. Mr. Hettinger was a resident near here for many years and was preceded in death by his wife, Mary Walker Hettinger.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Frances) Neff of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Fred (Katherine) Neff of Commercial Point; two sons, William of Commercial Point and Bob of Circleville; one brother, Nevin of Circleville and sister, Mrs. Amos Kerns of South Bloomingville. Also four grandchildren and one great-grandchild, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Wednesday 1:30 p.m. at the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville, with Rev. Carl Wetherell officiating. Interment was at Darbyville Cemetery.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the family.

Due to conflicting dates, the 40th Annual Homecoming, sponsored by the Men's Club, will be held earlier this year — July 22, 23 and 24. The Steinmetz Amusements will be present with their rides and other attractions. Remember the time and make your vacation dates accordingly.

The Men's Club will sponsor a Chicken Barbecue to be given at the fire house on April 24. Serving is to start at 4:30 p.m.

The 9th Annual Egg Hunt, sponsored by local businessman and sportsman, Bob Trego, will be held this Easter Sunday April 11. From 100 to 300 community children will be entertained to a gala fete when the kids will be given eggs and treats. The age is 12 years and under. Most parents here know and appreciate this occasion. Meet in the center of town promptly at 3 p.m.

Another death of a former resident here was of Miss Clara Dennis, age 84, of Columbus, who will be remembered by the few old-timers remaining. She is survived by two nephews, one niece and several cousins.

Church services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church with Rev. Walter Dickhaut officiating. Services were conducted by the Graumlich and Son Funeral Home with interment at Beckett Cemetery, Commercial Point.

The emergency squad received a false alarm Saturday and the sheriff's department investigated the call. This is a very dangerous "joke," and might involve someone's life or death. Break it up!

Sometimes things are forgotten and put away without just praise. We refer to our Scioto Junior High Basketball team of the year 1970-71. Under the leadership of Coach Charles Baxter, the team played a schedule of 16 games, winning 14 with an average winning score of 15.71 points per game. They also won the Pickaway County League Championship and played in the Groveport Invitational, where they won two and lost the championship game to Bexley by a score of 38-46.

In the 10 years of being a Junior Hi, this is the highest scoring team ever, averaging 33 points a game. Also the highest score in a single game — 74 points.

They have a ten year record of 90 wins and 23 losses. The team was composed of eight eighth graders and 12 seventh graders. The starting team, all 8th graders were Terry Southerns, Terry Collins, Homer Yates, George Spohn and Bill Lawless. Others on the squad were Randy Graham, Mike Berger, Jim Hall, Craig Slone, Joe Ehman, Lee Caudill, Dan

Ohol, Jeff Cauer, Gom Green, Scott Edwards, Scott Cordray, Mark Sheekherd, Greg Adkins, Karl Gray and Kip Smith.

Leading scorers were Terry Southerns, averaging 17 points a game and Homer Yates with 14 points. Terry Southerns shot 54 per cent for the year and George Spohn was the leading rebounder, averaging 13 points per game.

Coach Baxter and his assistants are to be praised for their fine services and the boys are to be congratulated for a job well done. The Community is proud of them all, and everyone is anxiously waiting to see how they fare when they enter Senior High School. Most of them will go to Teays Valley — so watch out! Thanks boys!

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Brief comments accompany the new titles which are mentioned below. These books are recent additions to the Sneek-A-Peek room.

"In the Night Kitchen" by Maurice Sendak is a whimsical dream sequence by the winner of last year's "Hans Christian Anderson Award." Like "Where the Wild Things Are," this book is for the very young.

"The Misunderstood Skunk" by Lilo Hess shows the appeal of this helpful animal in excellent black and white photographs. "Aquatic Insects and How they Live" by Robert McClung is a clear presentation of its subject. Mr. McClung's scientific drawings are easily understood. "Call of a Loon" by John Hamburger has carefully drawn pen-and-ink illustrations which carry the author-artist's message, though there are few words. Several kinds of Canadian pond life are shown with sympathy and grace.

Mary Adrian's theme is the chain of life in "A Day and a Night in the Arctic." One by one, she discusses the links, how they care for their young, feed themselves, and are in turn food for larger species. Two polar bear cubs and their mother are of prime interest. Genevieve Vaughan-Jackson has done excellent black-and-white illustrations which point up the meaning of the text.

"Chemistry of Life" by A. Rae Patton, illustrated by Zenowij Onyskewych and George T. Resch is written for the upper elementary grades. It is a fine resource book for science classes.

"Kids Cooking, a First Cookbook for Children" by Aileen Paul and Arthur Hawkins is for

Bell Workers Set Big Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Workers says it will demand a one-year wage increase of at least 25 per cent from the Bell Telephone System in bargaining beginning next month.

"We have the facts and figures to realistically demonstrate the need for a 25 per cent increase right away," said the union's president Joseph A. Beirne.

His union represents nearly 500,000 of the telephone operators, clerks, installers, repairmen and other workers in the 21 Bell companies across the nation. He said the Communications Workers generally sets the pattern for all Bell employees, totaling some 900,000. Most of the union's contracts expire by May.

the child's first venture into the kitchen. Cooking instructions are simple, though the recipes have more variety than those in the peanut-butter sandwich kind of beginner's cookbook.

"Fresh as a Daisy, Neat as a Pin" by William Wise is an easy-reading presentation. It discusses simple health rules and why they are important. Historical references to the Roman baths and the knights of Malta sugarcoat the message.

$6.8 Million Bank Shortage Eyed By Jury

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury has subpoenaed 15 persons, including an executive of a Chicago discount store chain and a former bank vice president, to testify in an investigation of a shortage of $6.8 million from the Cosmopolitan National Bank.

U.S. Atty. William J. Bauer said Tuesday the grand jury also has subpoenaed records of the discount chain and the bank in an attempt to trace the money.

The FBI has questioned both the executive and the bank employee but no charges have been filed.

An accountant for the firm checking the bank's books said the loss totaled $6.8 million. The accountant declined to be identified.

Donald D. Magers, bank president, revealed the shortage Monday and said a 24-year Cosmopolitan employee in the bookkeeping department apparently worked with a bank customer in the scheme that produced the loss. Magers said the scheme was uncovered Feb. 25 when the customer confessed to a bank officer that he had cashed checks on his firm's Cosmopolitan account in other banks over an 18-month period without sufficient funds in his account to cover the withdrawals.

Magers said that when the customer's checks were returned to the Cosmopolitan, the bank employee intercepted them and failed to post them to the corporation's account. He was fired after the loss was discovered.

"I know it's hard to believe, but he told me he got nothing," Magers said of the dismissed bookkeeper. "He had a tiger by the tail and couldn't turn loose of it, I guess."

Magers said about 10 customers closed their accounts with the 35-year-old institution Tuesday, but he said there had been no big run on the bank, whose individual accounts are insured up to $20,000 each by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

FDIC officials have said that if the estimated loss is confirmed, it would be the largest in U.S. banking history.

Penn Central Tax Case Nixed By High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Thursday dismissed an appeal from 33 county auditors objecting to a $9 million slash in the taxable valuation of Pennsylvania Railroad property.

The court said the auditors could join another action it was sending back to the Board of Tax Appeals if they wanted to continue their fight.

In that case, the railroad had appealed the tax commissioner's valuation of its property for 1966 public utility taxes. IKT challenged the cost formula used in computing taxes.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to the tax board for the third time. It said the board based its valuation solely on the testimony of railroad witnesses and disputed the tax board opinion that it had "no other choice."

Notre Dame Faces Drake In NCAA Fray

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame has a distinction no other team can boast of during the 1970-71 basketball season—it defeated No. 1 UCLA.

The 12th-ranked Irish coached by Johnny Dee hung an 89-82 loss on the Bruins, it was a loss that pulled Coach John Wooden's charges away from their top position just briefly in The Associated Press poll. They completed the remaining 11 games with victories just as they had played their first 14 contests.

It was undoubtedly Notre Dame's high-point in the season as they finished 20-7. Entering the Midwest Regional of the NCAA Tournament, the Irish have their work before them as they first play 20-7 Drake tonight in Wichita, Kan. The Missouri Valley Conference co-champion made the tourney by winning a playoff series with Louisville and Wichita State.

If the Irish, led by All-America Austin Carr, make it past Drake, the next opponent is likely to be Big Eight champion Kansas; 25-1, riding a 19-game win streak, and led by its own All-America, Dave Robisch.

The Jayhawks' first opponent in the semifinal is independent Houston, which finished the season 21-6. One of the losses was to Kansas, 89-73.

In the other regional semifinals tonight, UCLA plays Brigham Young, 19-9; and Long Beach State, 23-4, faces Pacific, 21-5 in the West Regional in Salt Lake City.

No. 2-ranked Marquette 27-0, goes for its 40th straight victory in the Midwest Regional against Ohio State, 19-5, in Athens, Ga. In the second contest Western Kentucky, 21-5, faces Kentucky, 22-4.

And in the Raleigh, N.C. East Regional, Pennsylvania, 27-0 plays South Carolina, 23-4; and Fordham, 25-2, meets Villanova, 24-6.

The survivors of the games meet Saturday for regional championships, with the winners moving on to the Hoston Astrodome for the national semifinals and final March 25 and 27.

In the NCAA college division tourney Wednesday in Evansville, Ind., Dwight Lamar of sixth-ranked Southwestern Louisiana scored 44 points in leading his team to a 110-99 victory over Assumption of Worcester, Mass., the No. 5-ranked team. Lamar, a sophomore, was the nation's top college scorer. Mike Boylan led Assumption with 32 points.

Two other sophs, Randy Couling and Rick Nau, each scored four points in overtime to give Old Dominion of Norfolk, Va., an 81-80 decision over Puget Sound of Tacoma, Wash. Skip Noble hit a layup at the buzzer to give the Monarchs a regulation 73-73 tie. Then, Couling and Nau went to work. Steve Cox was Old Dominion's leading scorer with 23 points while Chuck Lowery led Puget Sound with 35.

Kentucky Wesleyan snapped Cheyney, (Pa.) State's 13-game victory string 89-83. John Duncan hit 23 points for the Panthers, winners in the tournament three times. Chuck Kirkland and LeRoy Eldridge each scored 24 points for the losers.

In the finals, the hometown Evansville Aces cleaned the bench in a 105-69 swamp of Hartwick of Oneonta, N.Y. The team has won the tournament four times and led by an easy 49-34 at the half. Four Aces scored in double figures with John Welemeyer hi-man with 20 points.

Kentucky Wesleyan plays Old Dominion in the opening game of the semifinals tonight followed by the Southwestern Louisiana-Evansville contest.

Run Out Of Steam
CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals ran out of gas Wednesday night after reeling of five straight victories in a struggling bid for a National Basketball Association playoff berth.

Led by Jeff Mullins and former Royal Jerry Lucas, the San Francisco Warriors swept the Royals 110-82 and dropped them two games behind second place Atlanta in the NBA's Central Division.

Mark Ballinger Effective For Tribe
MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Rookie pitcher Mark Ballinger, bidding for a spot on the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff, once again impressed manager Alvin Dark as the Oakland Athletics trimmed the Tribe, 8-3, Wednesday.

Ballinger gave up two quick runs in the first inning, then worked out of a bases-loaded, nobody-out jam, and proceeded to shut out the Athletics during the rest of his four-inning assignment.

Considering that the game was played in a small park and the experimental three-ball rule was in effect, Dark said he thought Ballinger handled himself very well.

Kasko Finds Holes In Red Sox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Manager Eddie Kasko has located some holes in his Red Sox and he's going to start darning them up today.

Boston's fifth straight exhibition baseball loss—this one an 8-2 one-sided affair to Houston—drained the mild-mannered Kasko of his last bit of patience Wednesday.

"I didn't see a single encouraging note all day," he said disgustedly afterwards. "They look like a bunch of dead beats. I think it's time to shake them in a little."

Kasko planned squad meeting for the Sox today.

So far, what the Sox have been doing mostly has been exasperating their boss. Wednesday, it was pitcher Gary Peters' turn. He was rapped for eight hits and runs in five innings by the Astros, who ran their spring record to 8-4.

Denis Menke cracked three hits and Cesar Cedeño drove in three runs for Houston while Wade Blasingame allowed just one run and three hits in five innings.

While Kasko's problems mounted, Los Angeles and Cincinnati continue to get encouraging performances from two unheralded rookies.

Bob Darwin's eighth inning double—the fourth hit in the inning by L.A.—drove in the Dodgers' winning run in a 5-4 decision over Washington. Darwin, a former pitcher who has switched to the outfield this season, increased his spring batting average to .538 with the game-winning hit.

Pat Osburn, who had never pitched an inning of professional baseball before this spring, blanked Detroit for five innings as Cincinnati downed the Tigers 5-1. Osburn now has allowed just one earned run in 14 innings.

Catcher Bill Plummer drove in three runs with a double and a single for the Reds.

Minnesota absorbed a 10-1 defeat against Baltimore but got some good news off the field when outfielder Tony Oliva okayed a two-year contract. Oliva will receive between $90,000 and $95,000 this season and apparently will move into the six-figure bracket next year.

Oliva's signing left Minnesota pitcher Bill Zepp as the last major league holdout. Zepp has said he would not play this season unless the Twins trade him to Detroit, his home town.

Bobby Grich drove in five runs for the Orioles with a pair of doubles and an infield out while Andy Etchebarren and Merv Rettenmund each contributed a two-run single to the 10-hit attack against the Twins.

Montreal won its fourth straight exhibition game and third in a row against Atlanta, battering the Braves 17-5. Mack Jones' three-run homer highlighted a seven-run second inning and Ron Fairly touched off a five-run seventh with another homer for the Expos.

Tony LaRussa broke a 2-2 tie with a three-run homer and drove in another run with a triple, leading Oakland to an 8-3 victory over Cleveland. Ray Fosse had three hits for the Indians.

Dave Campbell's ninth inning single drove in the deciding run in San Diego's 8-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The Padres had tied the game with four runs in the seventh inning, the rally being capped by Ivan Murrell's two-run single.

Jose Cruz doubled home the winning run for St. Louis in the ninth as the Cardinals edged Philadelphia 4-3. Jose Cardenal had a three-run homer for St. Louis and Byron Browne connected for the Phillies.

Milwaukee topped San Francisco 10-9 in a free-swinging game that produced 32 hits, 16 for each team. Darrell Porter had a two-run homer for the Brewers, who got 12 of their hits off Gaylord Perry in the first seven innings. Dick Dietz contributed three singles to the Gants' attack.

Gary Gentry pitched five innings of one-hit ball and Cleon Jones, Tim Foli, Bob Aspromonte and Ken Boswell chipped in with two hits apiece, leading the New York Mets to a 6-1 decision over Kansas City. One of Jones' hits was a home run.

The Chicago White Sox tripped the New York Yankees 4-2 in a game played at Maracaibo, Venezuela. It was the ninth straight spring loss for the Yankees, who made four errors, and managed just four hits against Bart Johnson and two relievers.

California Angels See Better Days

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — General Manager Dick Walsh traded busily during the past winter with such players as Tony Conigliaro, Ken Berry and Jim Maloney now on the California Angels' roster.

"With our new acquisitions, I feel we'll be a 25 to 30 per cent better ball club this year than last," declares Manager Lefty Phillips.

He adds, "For the first time since I've been with this organization, the Angel club will play set line-up without platooning."

In Walsh's major trades, California acquitted power-hitting Conigliaro, catcher Jerry Moses and relief pitcher Ray Jarvis from Boston. Right-handed pitcher Maloney came from Cincinnati and center fielder Berry, infielder Syd O'Brien and pitcher Billy Wynne from Chicago's White Sox.

The Angels also bought catcher Jeff Torborg from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Conigliaro hit 36 homers and drove in 116 runs in 1970. Phillips calls him "the first real power hitter in the history of the Angels."

Berry joins the club to provide defensive strength between Conigliaro and American League batting champion Alex Johnson in the outfield.

First baseman Jim Spencer led the league in fielding with a .995 average and doubled his RBI production with 68.

"We have good strength up the middle with Jim Fregosi at shortstop, Sandy Alomar at second and Berry in center," Phillips says. "In both 1969 and 1970, I thought we were weak in center field defensively."

Phillips hopes to use a five-man pitching rotation with Andy Messersmith, Clyde Wright, Tom Murphy, Rudy May and Maloney.

Left-hander Wright proved the big surprise of 1970 with a 22-12 record after winning just one game the prior season. Messersmith was the disappointment as a series of injuries cut his effectiveness.

Andy says he's fully recovered. So does Maloney, who saw little action with the Reds in 1970 due to an Achilles tendon injury.

"I feel we have more experience and depth in our pitching and this club will score more runs," Phillips asserts.

"We were only three games back going into last September before a series of injuries to key players. Right now I am confident this is the best club in the American League West."

Jarvis will be in the bullpen along with another recent addition to the California roster, Gene Brabender. Mel Queen is back, young lefty Dave LaRoche shows improvement, and veteran knuckleballer Eddie Fisher worked in 67 games a year ago.

O'Brien provides infield utility strength to spell Ken McMullen at third, Fregosi or Alomar.

"We have a better bench," the manager declares. "O'Brien provides some sock and Tony Gonzalez, Roger Repoz and Billy Cowan all can hit."

The Angels look for some help in the catching department from Torborg and Moses. Joe Azcue did most of the work there last year.

"We bettered ourselves by 15 games last season when we won 86," Phillips observes. "If we can better ourselves 12 this year, we'll be in pretty good shape."

Ralph Birkhofer Dies; Ex-Major Leaguer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated Saturday for Ralph Birkhofer Sr. who played in the Major Leagues for five years—four with the Pittsburgh Pirates and one with the old Brooklyn Dodgers.

Birkhofer, 62, died at his home here Tuesday night.

He played a total of 14 years in professional baseball and retired in 1941. In recent years, he had been active in knothole baseball here.

Jacksonville Open Field Proves Strong

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It's tuneup time for the Masters, which brought one of the strongest fields of the winter golf tour to the Greater Jacksonville Open starting today.

Arnold Palmer, off to a brilliant start with two tournament victories including last week's Citrus Open, is cranking up for what he hopes will be his first major win since 1964 when he gets to Augusta three weeks hence.

PGA champ Jack Nicklaus, whose goal is to win more major championships than anyone else, has already won the Masters three times.

"I'm playing all right now; nothing fantastic you know, but I hope good enough," he said. "I always aim for the major championships."

Gary Player is another past Masters winner at his best when the challenge is greatest. He is quietly honing his game in competition.

None of this big three has won at Jacksonville although they've played here frequently.

One of the past winners, right at home on the 6,943-yard Hidden Hills course he represents on tour, is Dan Sikes.

"The course is in good shape," Sikes proclaimed, "but did not play well in the pro-am Wednesday because the wind dried it out. If the wind stays quiet, and I think it will, there will be some good rounds."

Gusts up to 18 miles an hour played havoc with the shots in the pro-am. Only a handful of pros bettered the par 72. But the forecast was for calmer weather the rest of the week.

All of this years winners except George Archer are among the 147 starters including double-champs Palmer, J. C. Snead and Tom Shaw.

The winning score last year, the first on the Hidden Hills course, was 279, nine under par. Don January and Dale Douglass tied at that score, January winning an 18-hole playoff.

Columbus Walnut Ridge Faces Tough Steubenville

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Top-ranked Columbus Walnut Ridge tries to follow the footsteps of two of its hottest challengers, Youngstown Boardman and Cleveland East Tech, as Ohio high schools resume regional basketball tournaments tonight.

Walnut Ridge, the No. 1 Class AAA team in The Associated Press poll during the regular season, risks its 21-0 record against sixth-rated Steubenville (21-1) in the Columbus regional.

Boardman, third-ranked in Class AAA, impressively ousted Canton McKinley 81-60 and East Tech thumped Cleveland rival St. Ignatius a second time this season 96-64 in Canton regionals Wednesday night.

In the only other Class AAA regional Wednesday night, No. 8

Celina withstood Whitehall 78-73 at Columbus.

In Class AA, Warren Champion eliminated Elyria Catholic 72-53 at Copley. There are no Class A regional contests Wednesday night.

Sidney Lehman, the top-ranked Class A team in the state, makes its regional debut at Dayton tonight, pitting its 22-1 mark against Franklin Monroe's 15-9 record.

Fort Recovery, No. 2 in Class A, matches its 22-2 record against Clinton Massie (21-2) in the opener at Dayton.

Wellsville, which ruled the Class AA ratings, was bounced by Martins Ferry in a first round district tournament game.

Boardman, gunning for a second straight trip to the state semifinals, put McKinley out of contention with 62 per cent first-half shooting for a 43-24 lead. Dave Erickson, 6-foot-7, scored 20 points to pace the Spartans to their 23rd straight victory. McKinley double teamed Boardman ace Greg Dunn, but he still scored 18 points, 16 on foul shots.

East Tech, the state king in 1968 and 1969, had too much speed for St. Ignatius. The Seabers, who beat St. Ignatius for the Cleveland city crown during the season, were paced by Fred Beamon's 21 points. They are 20-2.

Joe Westerfield and Curt Shelbarger, a pair of 6-6 juniors, powered Celina to its 22nd victory in 23 games. Westerfield poured in 23 points and Shella-barger 17. Van Gregg had 23 for Whitehall.

Craig Kusmaul hit 21 points and Mark Spang 19 for Champion, which sped ahead of Elyria Catholic 37-25 at halftime. Champion advances to the Copley regional finals with a 20-3 record.

Pickaway Farmer, Sportsman Club Holds .22 Pistol Match

The Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen's Assn. held an indoor .22 caliber pistol match 6:30 p.m. Wednesday with 17 members firing for record.

The regular meeting was opened at 8 p.m. with President Ed Hart informing the members that a seedling pine and multiflora rose had been received for planting at the children's home farm. Members are planning to organize a tree planting work party beginning 9 a.m. March 28.

Pat Osburn Does Well For Cincy Reds
WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Pat Osburn, invited to the Cincinnati Reds training camp as a non-roster player, is rocketing toward a starting position for the coming season.

Osburn picked up his second victory of the exhibition baseball season and drove down his earned run average as he blanked the Detroit Tigers in five innings Wednesday while helping the Reds score a 5-1 triumph.

Osburn, 21, who has had no professional baseball experience except for a stint in the Instructional League over the winter, has allowed only one earned run in 14 innings this spring.

Four outfielders in Phillies history have gone through a season without making an error: Danny Litwhiler, Tony Gonzalez, Don Demeter and Johnny Callison.

Tom Weldon, game protector, requested club members to nominate a local person active in conservation for the state conservation award to be presented later this year.

The following 1970 fish and game contest winners were awarded trophies: Bill Fraas, ringneck pheasant and grouse; Dick Redman, whitetail deer; Jim Schoby, largemouth bass; Wendell See, smallmouth bass; Bill Shaffer, fox.

The April meeting will be preceded by an indoor rifle match at 6:30 p.m.

The club voted to hold a fishing derby April 28 at Hargus Lake beginning at 9 a.m. Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the largest fish registered in each category.

In the past the club had sponsored a trout derby, but due to lack of trout this year an all fish derby will be held instead. The club will serve coffee and doughnuts.

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Walnut Ridge, the state's top-ranked high school basketball team, dominated the Associated Press' 1971 Central District all-star basketball selections.

An area board of sports writers and broadcasters made Walnut Ridge mentor Jack Moore the district Class AAA Coach of the Year and his 6-foot-10 star center, Ed Stahl, the No. 1 big school player.

Columbus Ready swept the area Class AA selections. Pat Penn was named Coach of the Year and Alan Walter, 6-foot-1 guard for the Silver Knights, the Player of the Year.

In Class A, Jim Stahl of Columbus Academy was the No. 1

area mentor and Dan Weston of Morral Ridgedale the top player in the small classification.

The Central District all-stars, based on regular season play:

Tucker, the leading scorer in the Metropolitan League, paced the Vikings attack while Knece was the big factor for the Braves with his scoring and fine rebounding efforts.

Kasko Finds Holes In Red Sox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Manager Eddie Kasko has located some holes in his Red Sox and he's going to start darning them up today.

Boston's fifth straight exhibition baseball loss—this one an 8-2 one-sided affair to Houston—drained the mild-mannered Kasko of his last bit of patience Wednesday.

"I didn't see a single encouraging note all day," he said disgustedly afterwards. "They look like a bunch of dead beats. I think it's time to shake them in a little."

Kasko planned squad meeting for the Sox today.

So far, what the Sox have been doing mostly has been exasperating their boss. Wednesday, it was pitcher Gary Peters' turn. He was rapped for eight hits and runs in five innings by the Astros, who ran their spring record to 8-4.

Denis Menke cracked three hits and Cesar Cedeño drove in three runs for Houston while Wade Blasingame allowed just one run and three hits in five innings.

While Kasko's problems mounted, Los Angeles and Cincinnati continue to get encouraging performances from two unheralded rookies.

Bob Darwin's eighth inning double—the fourth hit in the inning by LA—drove in the Dodgers' winning run in a 5-4 decision over Washington. Darwin, a former pitcher who has switched to the outfield this season, increased his spring batting average to .538 with the game-winning hit.

Pat Osburn, who had never pitched an inning of professional baseball before this spring, blanked Detroit for five innings as Cincinnati downed the Tigers 5-1. Osburn now has allowed just one earned run in 14 innings.

Catcher Bill Plummer drove in three runs with a double and a single for the Reds.

Minnesota absorbed a 10-1 defeat against Baltimore but got some good news off the field when outfielder Tony Oliva okayed a two-year contract. Oliva will receive between $90,000 and $95,000 this season and apparently will move into the six-figure bracket next year.

Oliva's signing left Minnesota pitcher Bill Zepp as the last major league holdout. Zepp has said he would not play this season unless the Twins trade him to Detroit, his home town.

Bobby Grich drove in five runs for the Orioles with a pair of doubles and an infield out while Andy Etchebarren and Merv Rettenmund each contributed a two-run single to the 10-hit attack against the Twins.

Montreal won its fourth straight exhibition game and third in a row against Atlanta, battering the Braves 17-5. Mack Jones' three-run homer highlighted a seven-run second inning and Ron Fairly touched off a five-run seventh with another homer for the Expos.

Tony LaRussa broke a 2-2 tie with a three-run homer and drove in another run with a triple, leading Oakland to an 8-3 victory over Cleveland. Ray Fosse had three hits for the Indians.

Dave Campbell's ninth inning single drove in the deciding run in San Diego's 8-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The Padres had tied the game with four runs in the seventh inning, the rally being capped by Ivan Murrell's two-run single.

Jose Cruz doubled home the winning run for St. Louis in the ninth as the Cardinals edged Philadelphia 4-3. Jose Cardenal had a three-run homer for St. Louis and Byron Browne connected for the Phillies.

Milwaukee topped San Francisco 10-9 in a free-swinging game that produced 32 hits, 16 for each team. Darrell Porter had a two-run homer for the Brewers, who got 12 of their hits off Gaylord Perry in the first seven innings. Dick Dietz contributed three singles to the Gants' attack.

Gary Gentry pitched five innings for the Cardinals edged Philadelphia 4-3. Jose Cardenal had a three-run homer for St. Louis and Byron Browne connected for the Phillies.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Top-ranked Columbus Walnut Ridge tries to follow the footsteps of two of its hottest challengers, Youngstown Boardman and Cleveland East Tech, as Ohio high schools resume regional basketball tournaments tonight.

Walnut Ridge, the No. 1 Class AAA team in The Associated Press poll during the regular season, risks its 21-0 record against sixth-ranked Steubenville (21-1) in the Columbus regional.

Boardman, third-ranked in Class AAA, impressively ousted Canton McKinley 81-60 and East Tech thumped Cleveland rival St. Ignatius a second time this season 96-64 in Canton regionals Wednesday night.

In the only other Class AAA regional Wednesday night, No. 8

Celina withstood Whitehall 78-73 at Columbus.

In Class AA, Warren Champion eliminated Elyria Catholic 72-53 at Copley. There are no Class A regional contests Wednesday night.

Sidney Lehman, the top-ranked Class A team in the state, makes its regional debut at Dayton tonight, pitting its 22-1 mark against Franklin Monroe's 15-9 record.

Fort Recovery, No. 2 in Class A, matches its 22-2 record against Clinton Massie (21-2) in the opener at Dayton.

Wellsville, which ruled the Class AA ratings, was bounced by Martins Ferry in a first round district tournament game.

Boardman, gunning for a second straight trip to the state semifinals, put McKinley out of contention with a 62 per cent first-half shooting for a 43-24 lead.

Dave Erickson, 6-foot-7, scored 20 points to pace the Spartans to their 23rd straight victory. McKinley double teamed Boardman ace Greg Dunn, but he still scored 18 points, 16 on foul shots.

East Tech, the state king in 1958 and 1959, had too much speed for St. Ignatius. The Seasons, who beat St. Ignatius for the Cleveland city crown during the season, were paced by Fred Beamon's 21 points. They are 20-2.

Joe Westerfield and Curt Shelabarger, a pair of 6-6 juniors, powered Celina to its 22nd victory in 23 games. Westerfield poured in 23 points and Shella-barger 17. Van Gregg had 23 for Whitehall.

Craig Kuszmaul hit 21 points and Mark Spong 19 for Champion, which sped ahead of Elyria Catholic 37-25 at halftime. Champion advances to the Copley regional finals with a 20-3 record.

Mark Ballinger Effective For Tribe

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Rookie pitcher Mark Ballinger, bidding for a spot on the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff, once again impressed manager Alvin Dark as the Oakland Athletics trimmed the Tribe, 8-3, Wednesday.

Ballinger gave up two quick runs in the first inning, then worked out of a bases-loaded, nobody-out jam, and proceeded to shut out the Athletics during the rest of his four-inning assignment.

Considering that the game was played in a small park and the experimental three-ball walk rule was in effect, Dark said he thought Ballinger handled himself very well.

Run Out Of Steam

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals ran out of gas Wednesday night after reeling of five straight victories in a struggling bid for a National Basketball Association playoff berth.

Led by Jeff Mullins and former Royal Jerry Lucas, the San Francisco Warriors swept the Royals 110-92 and dropped them two games behind second place Atlanta in the NBA's Central Division.

Notre Dame Faces Drake In NCAA Fray

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame has a distinction no other team can boast of during the 1970-71 basketball season—it defeated No. 1 UCLA.

The 12th-ranked Irish coached by Johnny Dee hung an 89-82 loss on the Bruins. It was a loss that pulled Coach John Wooden's charges away from their top position just briefly in The Associated Press poll. They completed the remaining 11 games with victories just as they had played their first 14 contests.

It was undoubtedly Notre Dame's high-point in the season as they finished 20-7. Entering the Midwest Regional of the NCAA Tournament, the Irish have their work before them as they first play 20-7 Drake tonight in Wichita, Kan. The Missouri Valley Conference co-champion made the tourney by winning a playoff series with Louisville and Wichita State.

If the Irish, led by All-American Austin Carr, make it past Drake, the next opponent is likely to be Big Eight champion Kansas; 25-1, riding a 19-game win streak, and led by its own All-American, Dave Robisch.

The Jayhawks' first opponent in the semifinal is independent Houston, which finished the season 21-6. One of the losses was to Kansas, 89-73.

In the other regional semifinals tonight, UCLA plays Brigham Young, 19-9; and Long Beach State, 23-4, faces Pacific, 21-5 in the West Regional in Salt Lake City.

No. 2-ranked Marquette 27-0, goes for its 40th straight victory in the Midwest Regional against Ohio State, 19-5, in Athens, Ga. In the second contest Western Kentucky, 21-5, faces Kentucky, 22-4.

And in the Raleigh, N.C. East Regional, Pennsylvania, 27-0 plays South Carolina, 23-4; and Fordham, 25-2, meets Villanova, 24-6.

The survivors of the games meet Saturday for regional championships, with the winners moving on to the Hoston Astrodome for the national semifinals and final March 25 and 27.

In the NCAA college division tourney Wednesday in Evansville, Ind., Dwight Lamar of sixth-ranked Southwestern Louisiana scored 44 points in leading his team to a 110-99 victory over Assumption of Worcester, Mass., the No. 5-ranked team. Lamar, a sophomore, was the nation's top college scorer. Mike Boylan led Assumption with 32 points.

Two other sophs, Randy Coulton and Rick Nau, each scored four points in overtime to give Old Dominion of Norfolk, Va., an 81-80 decision over Puget Sound of Tacoma, Wash. Skip Noble hit a layup at the buzzer to give the Monarchs a regulation 73-73 tie. Then, Coulton and Nau went to work. Steve Cox was Old Dominion's leading scorer with 23 points while Chuck Lowery led Puget Sound with 35.

Kentucky Wesleyan snapped Cheyney, (Pa.) State's 13-game victory string 89-83. John Duncan hit 23 points for the Panthers, winners in the tournament three times. Chuck Kirkland and LeRoy Eldridge each scored 24 points for the losers.

In the finals, the hometown Evansville Aces cleaned the bench in a 105-69 swamp of Hartwick of Oneonta, N.Y. The team has won the tournament four times and led by an easy 49-34 at the half. Four Aces scored in double figures with John Welemeyer hi-man with 20 points.

Kentucky Wesleyan plays Old Dominion in the opening game of the semifinals tonight followed by the Southwestern Louisiana-Evansville contest.

Pickaway Farmer, Sportsman Club Holds .22 Pistol Match

The Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen's Assn. held an indoor 22 caliber pistol match 6:30 p.m. Wednesday with 17 members firing for record.

The regular meeting was opened at 8 p.m. with President Ed Hart informing the members that seedling pine and multiflora rose had been received for planting at the children's home farm. Members are planning to organize a tree planting work party beginning 9 a.m. March 28.

Tom Weldon, game protector, requested club members to nominate a local person active in conservation for the state conservation award to be presented later this year.

The following 1970 fish and game contest winners were awarded trophies: Bill Fraas, ringneck pheasant and grouse; Dick Redman, whitetail deer; Jim Schoby, largemouth bass; Wendell See, smallmouth bass; Bill Shaffer, fox.

The April meeting will be preceded by an indoor rifle match at 6:30 p.m.

The club voted to hold a fishing derby April 28 at Hargus Lake beginning at 9 a.m. Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the largest fish registered in each category.

In the past the club had sponsored a trout derby, but due to lack of trout this year an all fish derby will be held instead. The club will serve coffee and doughnuts.

Pat Osburn Does Well For Cincy Reds

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Pat Osburn, invited to the Cincinnati Reds training camp as a non-roster player, is rocketing toward a starting position for the coming season.

Osburn picked up his second victory of the exhibition baseball season and drove down his earned run average as he blanked the Detroit Tigers in five innings Wednesday while helping the Reds score a 5-1 triumph.

Osburn, 21, who has had no professional baseball experience except for a stint in the Instructional League over the winter, has allowed only one earned run in 14 innings this spring.

Four outfielders in Phillies history have gone through a season without making an error: Danny Litwhiler, Tony Gonzalez, Don Demeter and Johnny Callison.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Kenneth Hardman on his birthday March 18.
We can not send a birthday card,
Money,
Or your hand we can not touch.
Today there will be no gifts or cake.
The one we loved so much and tried so hard to save.
Lies softly sleeping where the flowers gently wave.
But we bless the years we had him and leave the rest to God.
Missed and loved by wife,
Dorothy and children

In a somewhat different vein, Nixon has begun granting exclusive interviews to writers—first to Peregrine Worsthorne of the London Sunday Telegraph, then to C. L. Sulzberger of the New York Times.

Between Worsthorne and Sulzberger Nixon telephoned Helen Thomas of United Press International, responding to a question made to an aide about the Sunday worship service at the White House. The President not only responded to the question but submitted to inquiries about the search for a middle East peace.

R. P. Niehoff, Ohio GOP Leader, Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — H. Richard P. Niehoff, chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee during the eight-year GOP reign in the Statehouse, died Wednesday.

Niehoff, 52, had been hospitalized several weeks suffering from complications of leukemia and diabetes.

Because of his illness he was succeeded in the party post several weeks ago by T. Spencer Shore.

Former Gov. James A. Rhodes issued a statement saying he was deeply saddened by the death of a "great personal friend and one of the warmest human beings I have been privileged to know. His passing is a great loss to all who knew him."

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Survivors include the widow, Betty LeVeque Niehoff and four children, Peter, Christopher, Patricia and Elsa.

Niehoff, a Columbus attorney and Cincinnati native, had been finance committee chairman since 1962.

Appalachia Panel's End Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., said Wednesday it would be "wasteful and shortsighted" to eliminate the Appalachian Regional Commission in one year, superseding it with revenue sharing.

"The Appalachian machinery is already set up and in operation," Perkins said. "The Congress is not going to buy a pig in a poke."

Perkins was one of several witnesses who testified in support of extending the Appalachian program at a hearing before the Public Works subcommittee on flood control and internal development.

Extension of the Appalachia Regional Development Act of 1965 already has been approved by the Senate. Its backers now seek House passage.

One witness, Martin Hecht, vice president for development at Ohio University, Athens, recounted for the subcommittee benefits which he said the Appalachian program has brought about in his state.

Others testifying included Miles C. Stanley of Charleston, chairman of the AFL-CIO Appalachian Council and president of the West Virginia Labor Federation AFL-CIO; Thomas E. Garton Jr., director of the Greenville Education Center, Greenville, S.C.; Dr. Dennis A. Opheim, director of the Tri-County Appalachia Regional Health Planning Commission, Decatur, Ala., and Dr. Keith D. Blayney, dean of the University of Alabama's School of Community Allied Health Resources, Birmingham.

FBI Arrests 23 Persons Indicted In Gambling Cases

CINCINNATI (AP) — FBI agents have arrested 23 Steubenville area residents indicted with 11 other persons as the result of gambling raids in Bridgeport and Toronto last December.

Paul Fields Jr., special agent in charge of the Cincinnati office of the FBI, said that the 23 persons were taken into custody Wednesday. He said that they appeared before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Freedman in Steubenville and were released on their own recognizance pending further court action.

The arrests culminated FBI investigations into alleged gambling violations in Toronto, Steubenville, Martins Ferry, Bel-laire and Bridgeport, Fields said.

A grand jury in Columbus indicted all 34 persons Tuesday on various charges.

Then Wednesday, Nixon's move for a better image took another form. He solicited the student, from all sectors and its readership.

Five Negro reporters and photographers traveled with the President and Mrs. Nixon to Lexington, Ky., to attend the burial service for Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League.

They were personal guests aboard Air Force One and got exclusive articles and photos as the Nixons mingled with such black officials as Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall and James Farmer, former assistant secretary of health, education and welfare.

During the past week, Nixon also went to unusual lengths to set the stage for daughter Tricia's engagement announcement, talking to women reporters about the private life of the First Family.

Hours Noted For Voter Registration

Pickaway County Board of Elections will extend hours for voter registration next week on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Hours observed will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Deadline for registration is March 24.

Persons required to register to become eligible to vote in the May Primary election are those who have been residents of the area for six months, those who have changed address since the last election, persons who have changed their name or those who have not voted for two years.

Anyone who will become 21 years of age by Nov. 2 may also register.

Board of Elections staff in updating registered voters files, reported 1,351 names pulled in the city and 889 cancelled. Of the 1,914 county voters files pulled, 1,209 were cancelled. A total of 1,167 have been reinstated.

The process completed is required periodically to maintain current eligible voter status. Cancellations result from persons who have not voted in a 2-year period, from persons who moved out of the county and from deaths of which the board was not notified.

Betty McGinnis, deputy registrar reported prior to the November '70 General Election, there were 14,947 eligible voters in Pickaway County.

Former OSU Grad Student Files Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A former graduate student at Ohio State University who was suspended last September has brought suit against university officials for allegedly violating her constitutional rights.

Joel Ann Todd, of Columbus, filed the suit in U.S. District Court at Columbus Wednesday against the OSU Board of Trustees; University President Novice G. Fawcett; John T. Mount, vice president, and A. Charles Tell, university hearing officer.

Miss Todd was enrolled as a graduate student in political science from February, 1969, until her suspension. She had received a university fellowship including waiver of tuition and a monthly stipend.

She was suspended "after university officials found her guilty of violating a faculty rule that prohibits students from joining together to 'detain, hold, intimidate, injure or threaten to injure or coerce by bodily harm' any person lawfully on university property, or to 'seize, hold, commandeer, damage, or threaten to do damage' to such property."

The coed charged that she was denied due process and the right to fair and impartial judgment at the hearing which led to her suspension. She also charged that the faculty rule in question is vague and in violation of constitutional guarantees of free speech and association.

At the same time, Miss Todd filed a motion for a preliminary injunction against the university action. She asked the court to order that she be reinstated as a student at the start of the spring quarter and that the fellowship which she held be continued pending outcome of the suit.

two sponsors of a tough federal approach.

"We think the present system needs change badly and needs it now," said Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, in a statement prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee and made available by congressional sources. Volpe said the states should get the first chance to change the system.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., committee chairman, and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a ranking member, are cosponsors of a bill to establishing a mandatory, nationwide auto insurance system.

The administration recommendations and the Magnuson-Hart bill focus on the so-called no-fault liability under which injured persons are compensated regardless of who caused the accident.

In its draft resolution, the administration said the existing system "results in the excessive compensation of many persons sustaining only minor loss" while "by contrast, many persons with severe and permanently crippling injuries recover only a fraction of their losses."

The administration's proposed no-fault system includes these provisions:

—Every car owner would be required to carry insurance covering himself and his family as well as anyone who might be injured in an accident involving his vehicle.

—Insurance must cover all medical expenses "with very high mandatory limits." Included would be all medical rehabilitation expenses within the limits provided.

—An injured person would be barred from suing to recover damages greater than the limits set for damages covered by the policy.

—No injured person could sue for intangible losses "unless he established that he suffered permanent impairment or loss of function or permanent disfigurement, or that he incurred personal medical expenses (excluding hospital expenses) as a result of the accident in excess of a rather high dollar threshold."

—Payment of up to $75 a week for replacement of services of a non-working member of a household would be provided.

—An injured person would be barred from suing to recover damages greater than the lim-
